

70 Marines Die in Valley

Communist Losses Heavy As Fierce Battle Continues

SAIGON (AP) — American Marines and some 4,000 freshly equipped North Vietnamese regulars locked in a fierce battle over the blood-stained rice paddies of the Que Son valley today. One of the Marine battalions with 188 Communist soldiers fought off three night assaults and 70 Marines reported killed. More than two battalions of Marines sweeping through the North Vietnamese made minor breaches in the battalion's defense before being repulsed. In much of the fighting, the battle raged through the night with the Marines and the North Vietnamese alternately charging and retreating.

There was frequent hand-to-hand fighting beneath the flickering yellow glow of parachute flares. The battle raged less than a mile from the scarred field where 150 North Vietnamese soldiers were cut down Monday and Tuesday. The Reds have lost 338 killed and 23 captured in the valley in these two battles, and 219 Viet Cong were killed and 16 captured in an abortive attack on the town of Tam Ky early Wednesday.

Marine casualties in the Que Son Valley fighting now total 114 killed and 283 wounded. The battle 30 miles below Da Nang in the northern war zone was the only significant fight listed in the day's war communique. A storm over North Vietnam limited American air strikes Wednesday to 64—the leastest day in three months—but U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs blew up tracks on the approaches to the Lang Con railroad bridge only 25 miles from the Red Chinese border.

U.S. headquarters reported 157 Americans died in action last week and 1,588 were wounded, about an average casualty figure despite the lull in the fighting during that period. But enemy casualties of 1,055 killed were reported, nearly 500 less than the week before and the lowest enemy total since last April.

Action in the ground war had been relatively light for about two months until early this week, when Communist forces began showing signs of readiness for renewed action in the northern zone defended by the Marines.

Marine officers said many of the Communist dead found on the battlefield today were new, freshly cleaned uniforms. Some of the equipment was brand new, including Chinese gas masks, field radios and submarine guns.

Although the Marines estimated that about 4,000 North Vietnamese were engaged in the fight, they identified elements of three units—the 1st, 3rd and 21st regiments of the 2nd Infantry Division. This meant that perhaps 9,000 Red troops were in the immediate area.

The battle apparently was joined when a Marine battalion on the move was struck on its right flank by a savage attack. Although the Marines hit hard, one company pushed out and charged into the exposed flank of the attacking Reds and rolled it up, killing 50 of the enemy in action.

'Preliminary Stage'

U.S. Reportedly Seeks New Geneva Meetings

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has suggested to some other members of the U.N. Security Council that it call for a resumption of the Geneva conference on Vietnam to try to end the fighting there, diplomatic sources reported today.

It was understood that no formal proposals or written suggestions had been given to other delegations. Rather, the consultations were said to be in a "very preliminary stage" and amounted to "tossing out some ideas," the informants said.

"As I have repeatedly said,"

Open Housing Demonstration In 10th Night

Hike to Milwaukee's North Side Mostly Without Incident

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A group of about 450 civil rights demonstrators marched to the far northern section of Milwaukee Wednesday night and paraded back again in the city's 10th straight night of protests over lack of an opening housing ordinance.

The hike of some 12 miles proceeded without major incident, led by Negro comedian Dick Gregory and members of the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The Rev. James E. Groppi, the white adviser to the Council, was reported under a physician's care because of flu and did not join the marchers.

Police said four marchers were arrested on various charges. One of those taken into custody was a man driving a car in a caravan accompanying the marchers. He refused to leave an intersection on police order.

On two occasions the demonstrators approached to within three blocks of the home of Mayor Henry Maier, a major target of civil rights demonstrators.

After leaving St. Boniface Catholic Church, where Father Groppi is assistant pastor, the procession headed northward in sight today as a break in around 9:30 p.m. There was some singing and chanting before the group, following orders of their leaders, walked in near silence. The march ended around 2:30 a.m.

A rally at the church preceding the procession drew some 900 persons.

Gregory told the church audience, "There are big plans for the weekend. If you have any plans, cancel them."

UAW Union Walkout Stills Ford Production

Auto Labor Situation at a Glance

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
On Strike: 159,000 hourly rated workers at Ford Motor Co. plants in 25 states.

Cause: Failure to agree on new contract to replace three-year pact that expired at midnight Wednesday.

Principal Figures: Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union; Ken Bannon, chief of the union's Ford Department; Malcolm Denise, chief negotiator for Ford; William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Key Issues: General wage increase, additional increase for skilled tradesmen, guaranteed annual income, pay parity of Canadian workers, higher pensions. Workers now average $3.41 an hour in pay and Union demands are estimated at 90 cents to $4 with the company figuring its offer at a minimum of 34 cents over three cents.

Union Strike Fund: Estimated big enough to last 18 weeks at Ford. Union has called special convention for Sept. 26 to assess members still working at General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp.

Ford Inventory: 85,000 new cars and 175,000 of the 1967s in dealer hands as of Wednesday. Company says this is same amount of both new and previous-year models sold in first months of new model year one year ago. Normal Ford production is 8,000 cars and 1,500 trucks per day.

Still Operating and producing 1968s: GM, Chrysler, American Motors.

President Sees Harm To Nation

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union struck the Ford Motor Co. today, paralyzing the nation's second largest automaker and shutting off production of its 1968 models in 25 states.

No new negotiation meetings were scheduled. In contrast to the mass picketing of former years, only token picket lines appeared at most plants.

President Johnson has said he fears the stoppage will damage the nation's economy.

Although the walkout brought Ford's assembly lines to a halt, the strike was not expected to dry up the firm's supply of new cars entirely.

A spokesman for the company said that under the American-Canadian free trade agreement, cars will still be shipped across the border. He emphasized, however, that Ford does not plan to increase its Canadian production of Falcons and pickup trucks.

Shortage of Parts
If the strike is a long one, Canadian production would be halted in about two weeks because of a shortage of parts from Ford plants in the United States.

The strike cut off all production in American plants, which normally produce some 8,000 cars a day and raised the possibility of severe damage to its standing in the highly competitive market that General Motors and Chrysler will continue to feed with their 1968 models.

As it lengthens, effects of the strike could spread through the steel, trucking and railroad industries which Ford uses heavily for materials and transport of its cars.

The company, second in size to GM in the automaking field, was last struck nationally in 1961.

Rejects Proposal
Just 30 minutes before the Wednesday midnight expiration of the old three-year contract, Ford rejected a proposal by UAW President Walter P. Reuther for binding arbitration to dissolve the impasse.

By then, and with no sign of progress in eight weeks of bargaining, many of the UAW's 159,000 members at Ford plants already had walked off the job anticipating the strike.

Minutes after the strike began, Reuther told newsmen at Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn that he was "most disappointed."

He had said earlier this year "this union is going to be tested like it has never been tested before," and he told the news conference: "I think Ford workers are able to stand the test."

Assails Walkout
Henry Ford II, board chairman and grandson of the company founder, assailed the walkout as "totally unjustified and completely unnecessary."

He called it "a bludgeon against the public interest," and "fringe in its implications for the whole nation."

But he added he had no regrets about the decision to face the strike "rather than surrender to an unrealistic set of union demands."

Detroit, New York Hit Hard

Teacher Strikes Could Affect 2 Million Pupils

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Classes have been postponed for more than 600,000 youngsters as several of the nation's school systems have closed because of teacher salary disputes. The number could increase to more than two million by next week.

Detroit School Supt. Norman Dearlier put off indefinitely today's scheduled school opening for 300,000 youngsters. In New York a deadlock continued toward a Monday deadline.

Michigan was the hardest hit of the states, with almost a half million youngsters in some 17 districts on extended vacations "until further notice." Teachers picketed in some Michigan cities.

In New York the Board of Education accepted a proposal by Mayor John V. Lindsay's mediation panel for a two-year, $125 million contract between the teachers union and the board.

Calls for Vote
In a telegram to the United Federation of Teachers the board called for a membership open, but their ambassadors were asked to leave. A Foreigner agreed to the vote but predicted Office spokesman said their re-rank and file would reject it turn now would be automatic.

as the negotiating team had carried. The package would boost most teachers' salaries by $1,050 over two years to a starting $6,600 next September. The teachers had called for a scale from $7,500 to $15,000.

The union is also seeking a say in educational policy. The teachers have threatened a mass resignation for the scheduled opening Monday to circumvent a state law prohibiting strikes by public employ-

Lebanon Plans To Restore Ties With U.S., Britain
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's government said today it will restore full diplomatic relations with the United States and Britain, making it the first Arab country to mend the diplomatic breaks resulting from the Arab-Israeli war.

Lebanon's government said today it will restore full diplomatic relations with the United States and Britain, making it the first Arab country to mend the diplomatic breaks resulting from the Arab-Israeli war. Ambassador Nadin De-machieh was withdrawn from London and Ibrahim Anadab from Washington when the Arab states charged that the United States and Britain were aiding Israel in the June 5-10 war.

The Lebanese Foreign Office said the ambassadors would return to their posts, but no date has been set yet.

The British and American embassies in Beirut have remained there went into its ninth day. More than 600 of the 850 teachers in the system have stayed away from schools in a salary dispute.

Arab-Israeli Cease-Fire Fails To Last at Suez, Jordan River

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The shooting ended at midnight after intervention by U.N. cease-fire observers. Each nation prepared a complaint to the United Nations.

U.N. Intervenes
An Israeli spokesman said Jordanian troops opened fire on an Israeli patrol today about 3 miles south of the Allenby Bridge in the Jericho region. The Israelis returned the fire, he said, and there were no Israeli casualties.

There was no immediate comment from Jordan.

Egyptian and Israeli forces fought for seven hours across the canal Monday, and Egyptian authorities claimed that the Israeli shelling of the Red Sea port of Suez killed 44 civilians and wounded 170, wrecked 40 homes and damaged many more.

Fire Over Canal
That battle was followed by an exchange of fire across the canal Tuesday night and by a duel between Jordanian and Israeli forces across the Jordan River Tuesday.

At the United Nations, Egypt blamed Israel for widening Monday's naval and artillery battle despite a report from a team of U.N. truce observers that the Egyptians shot first.

Egyptian Ambassador Mohammed A. El-Kony wrote the president of the Security Council that two Israeli motorboats and a tug tried "to force their passage through the canal at the Suez entrance." He said the boats continued despite a warning and "simultaneously opened fire on our positions at Port Taufiq."

Bull Blames Egypt
L.A. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of staff of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization in the Middle East, reported that Egypt started the fighting with fire directed at an Israeli motorboat. Foreign newsmen toured Suez, a city of 200,000 people, and found wailing women huddled around the wreckage of their homes. An elderly woman moaned, "I lost four of my children."

In Port Taufiq, half a mile away, the canal authority's three-story building was a wreck after several direct hits.

Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol said Israel, which captured almost all of Egypt east of the canal in the June 5-10 war, would not judge from the occupied territories as long as the Arabs held to their Khartoum summit position of no direct negotiations with the Jewish nation.

He called the canal "the most natural border Egypt and Israel could have."

"We are still ready to make peace at any time," said Eshkol, but "it seems that all our invitations to make peace have so far fallen on deaf ears."

The Jordanian newspaper Al Difa said the Arab states were working on a plan to be submitted to the U.N. General Assembly Sept. 19 that would "remove the consequences" of the six-day war with Israel.

Such a plan was believed to be among the topics discussed by Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Moscow. But at a conference of seven East European Communist nations in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Romania blocked a move to issue a joint statement labeling Israel the aggressor in the June war, reliable sources reported.

They said Romanian Deputy Premier Gheorghe Radulescu touched off heated discussions by insisting that references to Israel as an aggressor and the Arabs as victims of aggression be deleted from a draft communique. The final communique referred only to "existing difficulties" of Arab nations, the sources added.

The nations met to discuss economic aid to the Arabs and declared readiness to discuss "concrete measures for further expansion of economic cooperation" with Arab nations. The seven were the Soviet Union, Romania, Hungary, Poland, Bulgaria, East Germany and Yugoslavia.

San Francisco Jolted by Quake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An earthquake rocked San Francisco and parts of Northern California early this morning, apparently without damage or injury.

An hour after the jolt, which came at about 5:42 a.m. (PDT), there was no report to police in the area of any serious trouble.

The San Francisco Fire Department reported it had not received a single distress summons as a result of the jolt.

DeGaulle Seeks Polish Aid In Vietnam Peace Venture

Proposes Getting U. S. Out Of War Zone; Implies France Ready to Take Stronger Role

WARSAW (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle began talks with Poland's Communist leaders today after suggesting that France and Poland might join in getting the United States out of Vietnam. At a table with De Gaulle in the Belvedere, Poland's presidential palace, were French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Education Minister Alain Peyrefitte. The Polish side included President Edward Ochab, Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz and Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki. Their first session lasted 2 hours, 20 minutes. The 76-year-old French president, after a tumultuous welcome from nearly half a million Poles, implied in a speech Wednesday night that France is prepared for a bigger role in bringing peace to Vietnam.

Increase Concern French sources said De Gaulle's statements were a result of France's increased concern about the war but did not indicate that specific action on Vietnam could be expected during his visit here. De Gaulle aroused interest among Polish officials by urging cooperation among western, central and eastern Europe as a means of relaxing tensions. His concept of central Europe was believed to reflect the idea that Communist East European countries could act as a bridge between the Soviet Union and Western Europe if they became more independent of Moscow. "If an opportunity arises one day," France and Poland could join forces toward "bringing about an end to the bombing, fighting and presence of foreign armed forces," the French president said at a Polish state reception soon after he arrived for a six-day visit.

Criticism Omitted De Gaulle's speech omitted past criticism he had made of the United States. He said Poland and France might join in efforts for peace because Poland is a member of the International Control Commission for Vietnam while France has "numerous ties and possibilities" linking it with its former Indochinese colonies. Poland's last known Vietnam peace effort was in late 1966. Polish officials charged that the

Six Candidates Say Voting Was Rigged

SAIGON (AP) — Six civilian of the most insecure in South Vietnam asked the Constituent Assembly today to void the election of Nguyen Van Thieu, claiming they have evidence it was rigged. "Each of us is making separate complaints. I have six," said Truong Dinh Dzu, the Saigon lawyer who ran second to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, in the election last Sunday. The government countered with charges that the Viet Cong electioneered on behalf of Dzu. The official government news agency Vietnam Press quoted a captured Viet Cong to back up the charge.

Four of the candidates told newsmen they are joining with four others defeated in the elections to form an antigovernment front that does "not recognize these fraudulent elections." Seek Recount "We are asking for a nationwide recount of all the provinces," Dzu said. The assembly must rule by Oct. 2 on all charges of election irregularity. If it finds too many of them, it can nullify the election and call a new one. "If the assembly rejects our charges because they have no courage to invalidate the election, we will build up a legal opposition to the government."

Most of Saigon's Vietnamese-language newspapers printed an Associated Press report from Washington that expert official analysts there noted Dzu's areas of voting strength included some servicemen remaining in Aden, it will give the Arab army control of the Sheikh Othman District next month and Crater in November. Some 140,000 Arabs live in Sheikh Othman and 70,000 in Crater. Meeting Sought The nationalist groups will be asked to meet with a three-man United Nations mission, which arrived in Cairo Wednesday, for talks on the federation's problems. But authoritative sources in Beirut said Britain does not intend to wait for the UN mission to move before handling over power.

The NLF claims control of most of the federation, but Egypt has been backing FLOSY. Britain said the federation's government of sheikhs and sultans had collapsed and offered Tuesday to negotiate with Arab nationalist groups to organize a replacement.

Meanwhile, the federation's army formally took control of the Little Aden district, where the British Petroleum Co. has a refinery. The district is 10 miles from the center of Aden. As Britain gradually pulls out the more than 11,000 British

Street Fighting Kills 27

Strike Shuts Down Aden Business

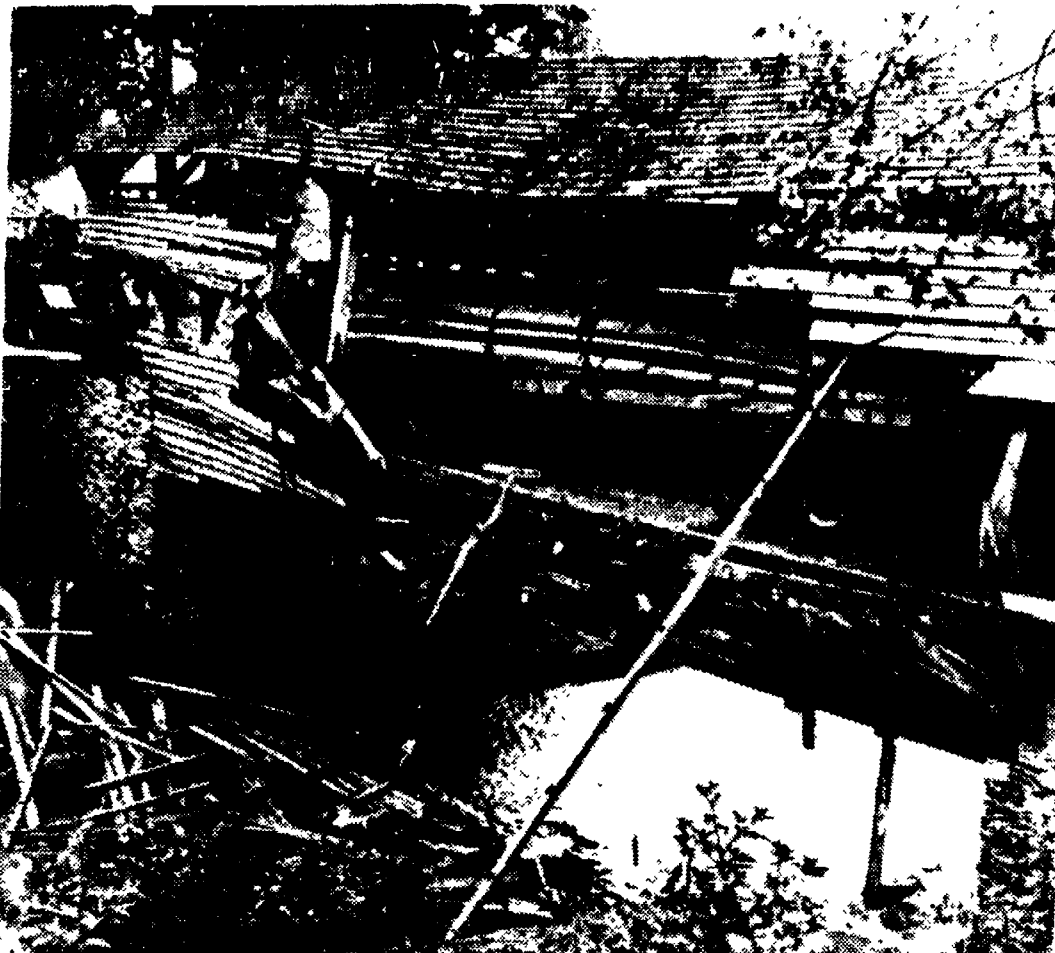

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ADEN (AP) — An Arab nationalist group shut down business in Aden today with a general strike after a battle in the streets with a rival nationalist faction left 27 Arabs dead. The Arab army of the South Arabian Federation moved to halt fighting between the two groups, which seek to control the federation after it becomes independent of Britain Jan. 9. The Federation for the Liberation of South Yemen—FLOSY—called the strike. The National Liberation Front—NLF—opposed it.

Street fighting between the two broke out Wednesday after Britain offered to let nationalists form the government of the federation, composed of Aden and 16 sheikhdoms and sultanates along the southern coast of the Arabian peninsula. Reliable sources said the house-to-house fighting in Aden killed 12 members of the NLF and 15 FLOSY men.

The army prepared to move into the border town of Dar Saad, where FLOSY has been trying for two days to wrest control from the NLF. It announced it would take charge in all Arab trouble spots and demanded that the NLF and FLOSY accept British terms for negotiations on a new federation government.

'Brainwashing' Charge Draws Little Support

Nine Governors Rap Assessment Made by Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney's charge that he was brainwashed on Vietnam war policy during a 1965 visit to Saigon has drawn no support from nine other governors who accompanied him. Most of the Democratic governors who made the trip with Romney, a likely candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year, rapped his assessment of briefings given the touring politicians by military and diplomatic officials.

The Republican governors were more charitable, saying Romney may have received information they didn't. But none agreed they were exposed to attempted brainwashing.

Controversy Started The controversy started by Romney's comment—made Monday as the governor was explaining his shift of stance on Vietnam policy—was front page news in Saigon's English-language newspapers. "Where I got back from Vietnam," Romney had said, "I just had the greatest brainwashing that anybody can get when you go over to Vietnam. Not only by the generals but also by the diplomatic corps over there, and they did a very thorough job."

Democratic Gov. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont, one of those who traveled with Romney, said of the charge: "Who the hell is he to say it was brainwashing? Either he's a most naive man or he lacks judgment." Another Democrat, Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, said he saw "absolutely no evidence" of attempts to influence the governors' viewpoints.

Rhode Island Gov. John Chafee, considered a GOP vice presidential hopeful in 1968, said he didn't feel he was brainwashed, but added: "I don't want to disagree with what someone else felt." gravity he believes "the plants will be down and won't produce great foliage."

Annual Push Started To Seat China in U.N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The annual campaign to seat Communist China in the United Nations has not even started yet and its failure is being predicted already.

Communist sources said Secretary-General U Thant would get a request from some non-aligned and Communist countries this week that the General Assembly convening Sept. 19 should take up an item titled "Restoration of the Lawful Rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

Debate on that subject in recent years has always ended with the defeat of a resolution aimed to recognize Peking representatives as "the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and to oust the Chinese Nationalists from all U.N. Bodies.

Diplomats Forecast

Pro-Nationalist diplomats forecast that it would be voted down by about the same margin as last year.

The margin against the resolution at that time was 57-46, with seven abstentions. That was much better for the Nationalist side than the year before, when a similar resolution failed on a 47-17 tie, with 20 abstentions. The assembly has ruled that a two-thirds vote is needed to make a change.

The United States, a strong supporter of Nationalist China, has angered the Arabs by taking what the Arabs said was a pro-Israeli stand during and after the Israeli-Arab war of last June. Communist China itself has shocked friends and enemies alike with the riots of Mao Tse-tung's Red Guards inside China and out. But indications are that neither factor will count for much in the voting here.

One Western diplomat said there had been reports that, to spite the United States, some Arab countries would switch from abstaining to voting for Communist China, but these had been disproved.

Another pro-Nationalist source remarked that the Chinese Reds' backers seemed to stick by them no matter what they did. He said, "India has been in trouble with the Chinese Communists for years and she still keeps working for them."

Analysis shows that how a country votes on the China-seating issue depends not so much on how Peking behaves as on which Chinese government it recognizes, which is the more persuasive in lobbying for its vote and what its traditional position is on the issue.

Memorandum Drafted

The Communist sources said Algeria and Cambodia recently drafted a memorandum to explain the case for seating Communist China and circulated it for the approval of the other seven countries that put the question before the 1966 assembly—Albania, the Congo (Brazzaville), Cuba, Guinea, Mali, Romania and Syria.

They said these other countries since had been waiting for their governments' instructions on whether to join in the request again this year. The informants expected that all or nearly all of them would do so.

Communist China sometimes alleges that the United Nations is merely an instrument for U.S.-Soviet collaboration against the world revolutionary movement. But the fact that her friends keep trying to get her seated here would seem to indicate that U.N. ambitions are not entirely excluded from Mao's thoughts.

Packaging Device Gets Patent for Menashan

MENASHA — George L. Meyers, 632 First St., has been awarded a U. S. patent, entitled "Package With Contents Holding Means."

The device is a semi-rigid carton containing shrinkable film packages, which protects the products from the atmosphere and against crushing. Formerly, carton contents were subject to damage by collision with the walls of the package.

Meyers has assigned the patent to American Can Company.

Pollution Charge Dismissed Against Kimberly Boater

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, in a written verdict, Wednesday morning dismissed a charge against a 45-year-old Kimberly boat owner.

Leonard R. Else, 256 S. Willow St., was charged Aug. 28, 1966, with operating a boat with improper toilet facilities on abatement of water pollution inland waters. The arresting state conservation warden alleged that the boat, being operated on the Fox River in wastes from the boat toilet were not made directly into the water, but were instead into a plastic bag which was capable of being removed and its contents charge, and trial was held deposited elsewhere.

The activities fee can be paid during homeroom periods. It can be paid in full, $3 now and the balance by Oct. 1, or in installments of $5 now and $1.50 during parts of the school year.

Milwaukee Man Jailed 180 Days

A 38-year-old Milwaukee man arrested Saturday by state police was sentenced to 180 days in the Outagamie County Jail Tuesday after pleading guilty to four traffic offenses.

Theodore Kastet Jr., was charged with driving after his license was revoked, unlawful use of a driver's license, improper use of evidence of registration and driving an unregistered vehicle.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller sentenced Kastet to 180 days for driving after revocation and 30 days each on the other three counts, but ordered that the three 30-day terms be served concurrently with the longer sentence.

State police arrested Kastet on State 76, near U.S. 45, in the Town of Greenville.

Bank Teller Admits Guilt In Embezzling

Bad Racing Bet Starts Shortage Fixed at $131,000

MADISON (AP) — Edgerton bank teller Richard J. Engler pleaded guilty today to embezzlement in a $131,000 shortage that federal authorities said started with a bad racing bet.

U.S. Atty. Edmund Nix told the court that Engler and a friend used $10,000 in bank funds to place a bet on a horse to come in third or better at a Chicago track July 25.

Nix said Engler, 37, and Merrill Bender, 28, president of the Edgerton Junior Chamber of Commerce, took another $121,000 from the bank and left for Hawaii the next day.

Called FBI

Engler called the FBI and surrendered at the Los Angeles airport after returning from Honolulu July 31. Bender was arrested later in Madison and is awaiting trial.

Nix said Engler and Bender twice before had taken $10,000 from the bank to the track to place a bet but backed down both times.

The third time the horse they tapped, "Otto Express," was edged out on the bet to show and came in fourth.

The $10,000 bet with the bank money never came in at all.

Engler was carrying two suitcases of money when he surrendered to the FBI. Nix said about $111,000 was recovered.

Engler and Bender were charged in only a $20,000 embezzlement because the rest of the money was retrieved, federal authorities said.

top bargainer, Malcolm Denise, Reuther accused Ford of "wanting to test their position before they come close to a settlement."

"I think I can answer that a board of impartial judges," with a flat no," he said.

General Motors and Chrysler, men said a decision on when to resume negotiations may not come until Monday.

There was no indication that Ford would present a new offer. Only a day earlier, Denise told workers according to contract provisions, they refused to expound and was not preparing to tend the three-year pact that expired with Ford's at 11:39 p.m.

Reuther renewed his charge boost of 13 cents an hour, plus that "there is a concerted effort 2.3 per cent the last two years of the Big Three to thwart free a proposed three-year contract, collective bargaining." Spokes-

The union demands, which Reuther calls "the longest and most ambitious in UAW history," have been estimated at accepted the union proposal for from 90 cents to $4 an hour per worker, compared to $4.70 an hour per worker the companies through binding arbitration, now pay in wages and benefits.

'Beyond Scope'

In rejecting the proposal, Denise said the arbitrators, before making their award, would have to determine the "prices, profits and executive compensation of the company, all of which are beyond the scope of collective bargaining."

Denise, in a letter to the UAW, termed the arbitration proposal "clearly unacceptable."

Principal Bows to Miniskirts

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP) — Principal Felix W. Andrus of Haverhill High School gave ground grudgingly as miniskirted girls darted through his corridors.

"The miniskirt is here to stay—we can't battle the manufactured," he said Wednesday. "We've got to be realistic about this. This is the style and most dresses are being sold this way."

Andrus said the school banned miniskirts last year "because they weren't so common so we considered them an extreme style."

"But now they will have to be accepted," he said. Girls will still be sent home if skirts are higher than one inch above the knee, he said.

8 U. S. Soldiers Slain

Reconnaissance Patrol Ambushed

SAIGON (AP) — Six members of a U.S. Army reconnaissance patrol were wiped out in a 10-minute ambush on a rubber plantation near Saigon and the other two men of the patrol apparently were murdered after they were captured, the U.S. Command announced today.

The squad from the 9th Infantry Division was operating in the Bin Son rubber plantation 26 miles east of the South Vietnamese capital. The eight bodies were found Wednesday by search patrols from the division.

Casualties Unknown

A U.S. spokesman said enemy casualties were unknown, but "bloody sandals and blood spots on the trail indicated there had been casualties."

The victims were identified as Mary Lynn Sinclair, 9; her sister, Sarah Elizabeth Sinclair, 18, and Mary Durant, 8.

Officers said two other Sinclair sisters, Kathy, 20, and Faye, a teen-ager, were in the house but escaped. The killings occurred at the family's two-story home in downtown Auburn.

Police said Kathy had once dated Seibold. They said also that Seibold was once put under a peace bond to stay away from the Sinclair residence.

Officers said Kathy escaped the gunfire by diving through a window and Faye apparently hid under a bed.

The younger girls were killed with a shotgun. The 18-year-old was knifed.

The two-score hippies demonstrating outside Consolidated company guard before fleeing Edison Co. headquarters when someone said police were coming.

Con Edison said later in a "Breathing is bad for your statement that it is fighting air health," read their banner, pollution and called the hippies "misguided people with a pen-bombs and dashed soon on a chan for publicity."

It was estimated that 50 Viet Cong took part in the ambush at the intersection of two jungle trails.

The spokesman gave this report of the ambush as it was reconstructed by an investigation:

The squad moved out from its base camp Tuesday morning. It was instructed later in the day to return to the base camp at 3 p.m., but radio contact with it was lost. Two other patrols operating in the area reported hearing gun fire. Search parties with artillery support combed the jungle, aided by flareships overhead, but were unable to find the squad that night.

The next morning tracker teams calling to the missing strating outside Consolidated company guard before fleeing Edison Co. headquarters when someone said police were coming.

Con Edison said later in a "Breathing is bad for your statement that it is fighting air health," read their banner, pollution and called the hippies "misguided people with a pen-bombs and dashed soon on a chan for publicity."

Merger Talks End At Allis-Chalmers

Stockholders Claim Directors Failed in Previous Sale Bid

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Merger talks between Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. of Milwaukee and General Dynamics have ended, an A-C spokesman said Wednesday.

At the same time eight A-C stockholders filed suit in Chancery Court at Wilmington, Del., seeking an accounting from the firm's directors for alleged mismanagement.

The suit claimed the directors of the firm, incorporated in Delaware, were derelict in their responsibility to stockholders by failing to take advantage of a stock tender offer by Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc.

LTV made a recent offer to buy all outstanding common and preferred stock from Allis-Chalmers for a "good price,"

Answer Charges

The suit demanded that the directors appear before the court by Oct. 16 to answer the charges and to determine payment "of the funds to which (the plaintiffs) are entitled."

The chancellor's order named Daniel B. Ferry as sequester to attach the 35,510 shares of common stock reportedly owned by the directors.

It claimed the directors turned down "in excess of $55" for each share of Allis-Chalmers common stock and "in excess of $138" for each share of preferred.

Directors rejected the LTV proposal, advising that it didn't consider it in their best interest.

The eight stockholders, with no addresses available, are Esther Nadler, George and Martha Sage, Edward E. Seidmon, Shirley Thau, Joseph and Lucy Trafi and Abe Weintraub.

Wayward Python Back With Owner

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Sherwood, the friendly python who disappeared two weeks ago, turned up Wednesday as friendly as ever.

A gardener spotted the eight-foot snake on the Biltmore Golf Course, a mile from David Salk's home.

"It's sure a friendly snake," a passerby commented.

David Salk, 18-year-old nephew of Dr. Jonas Salk of polio vaccine fame, lost his pet while cleaning his cage.

He feared thunderstorms had washed Sherwood far away.

Most Federal Judges Endorse Antiriot Bill

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Many U.S. District Court judges not only have endorsed the House-passed antiriot bill but also suggested amendments to make it tougher.

The Senate Judiciary Committee had copies of the bill sent to each of the 338 district court judges, with a request for their comments and recommendations for improving it or making it more readily enforceable.

Replies so far from about 100 judges in all parts of the country are running 80 per cent or better in favor of the bill.

Varied Reaction
Two indicated they opposed the bill, and some replied it would be inappropriate to comment or took no position on the merits of the legislation. Several suggested it might be difficult to enforce.

Perhaps the most unusual reply was the letter from Chief Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. of the U.S. District Court in Massachusetts. He wrote:

My position with respect to this bill is identical with that of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts. At the windup of the Judiciary Committee's hearings on the bill, Kennedy said it had "ample public relations value but very little substance. He has maintained it distracts attention from social and economic factors he believes generate riots."

Federal Crime
The bill would make it a federal crime to go from one state to another with intent to incite a riot. It would provide penalties of up to five years imprisonment or a $10,000 fine or both.

Some of the judges recommended stiffening the maximum prison term. Judge Edwin D. Steel Jr. of Delaware and Judge Joe Eaton of the Southern District of Florida proposed 10 years. Chief Judge William H. Timbers of Connecticut suggested a maximum 20 years. And Judge Pearson M. Hall of the Southern District of California recommended the bill provide for life imprisonment or death in the event a riot incited by an outside agitator resulted in any one being killed.

Judge Luther Bohanon of the Western District of Texas suggested amending the bill to require that bail for anyone caught inciting a riot be set in an amount "to make sure the accused be confined until such time as the danger of riot has passed in whatever locality the riot may be imminent."

Deletion Recommended
Some of the judges recommended deletion from the House-passed bill of language saying that to incite a riot "shall not mean the mere advocacy of ideas or the mere expression of belief."

Judge Carl A. Weinman of the Southern District of Ohio said "You are setting forth what might be a defense" for a person accused of inciting a riot. Similarly, Chief Judge James C. Connell of the Northern District of Ohio wrote "Why should the law-making body invent defenses to the law which it enacts and thus negate the end it seeks to accomplish?"

Watered Down
Connell added, "Frankly, this looks to me as if the law is unconsciously being watered down before it ever comes into existence."

But Judge Myron L. Gordon of the Eastern District of Wisconsin wrote he was pleased to see that the "advocacy of ideas or the mere expression of belief" was excluded as an offense. He said "that goes a long way toward making the bill enforceable."

Among other suggestions for toughening the bill was a recommendation that it spell out the use of radio, telephone or television to incite a riot would be a violation of federal law.

BY CAPPY DICK
Cut some soda straws into pieces two and a half inches long. You will need 15. With blue crayon make a stripe along one side of each piece. Give each player one full-length straw.

The game is started by one player dropping the 15 short straws in a heap on the table. Some will land with the blue stripe up, others with the stripe down. The player's problem is to remove from the pile only those pieces where the blue stripe is up and do it without moving any of the other straws. His score is decided by the number of straws (with the blue stripe up) he can remove without disturbing any of the others.

If he moves any other straw in trying to lift one, his turn ends and it is the next player's turn. This player picks up all 15 straws, drops them in a heap, and tries his skill at removing only those with the blue stripe up. The player with the highest score after each has had three turns wins the game.

The straws are removed by suction. The player puts his long straw between his lips, places the other end on a straw he hopes to remove and draws his breath in.

LBJ Getting Reports On Faltering Proposals

Writers Say Comments Hardly Anything To Make President Happy About Future

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — In a tactic carefully kept from public view, President Johnson is now using some 50 top-level lobbyists from throughout the federal government as his personal political scouts on Capitol Hill.

Nothing demonstrates Mr. Johnson's own awareness of the deep political trouble he now confronts than this quiet attempt to enlist the huge "Congressional liaison" — that is, lobbyist — staff of the federal bureaucracy to probe beneath Capitol Hill's surface and find out what plagues the Great Society.

Novak Evans

On presidential orders, each of the federal lobbyists — many of whom rank as assistant secretaries in their departments — have picked half a dozen of their closest Democratic friends in the senate and house. They are using these Congressmen as basic source material on such questions as why the President is slumping so badly, why some parts of the Great Society are in such deep trouble, and how Democratic party discipline and morale can be tightened up.

New Answers to Study
In private talks with their congressional targets, the lobbyists are seeking new answers to these old questions. The answers are then conveyed, mostly in long memoranda, to the President, who puts them into his night reading folder and studies them late at night.

There is nothing either cynical or underhanded in making this novel use of the government officials whose main job is to drive White House legislation through Congress. The idea was the President's own, and it came to him one day last month when, in the White House Fish Room, the lobbyists were having a routine meeting with the White House staff.

Suddenly the door burst open and in walked the President. He slouched into a chair, signalled that the meeting should go on as before, and intently listened.

The discussions continued, slightly encumbered with embarrassment from the presence of the boss, until Mr. Johnson interrupted.

Seeks Better Contacts
He was very worried about the general political position of the Democratic party, he said, and about difficulties his Administration was having in Congress.

He wanted to set up a better method of contact with Congress, to know more about the views of individuals there, to understand the thinking of recalcitrant committee chairmen, and to get answers to the decline of his own and the party's popularity.

Then he asked each of the departmental lobbyists to submit a list of their closest friends in Congress to Barefoot Sanders, the Texan who now runs the President's own lobby stable in the White House. Sanders, presidential appointments Secretary W. Marvin Watson, Jr., and other White House staffers then assigned five or six Democratic congressmen to each of the lobbyists.

For instance, one departmental lobbyist set up an appointment with the first name on his list, a liberal Democratic senator. He next sat in the senator's office for two hours listening to a torrent of criticism about the war in Vietnam and the President's tax bill that ended with a flat prediction that the whole Democratic party would go down to disastrous defeat in next year's election. It all went into a memo for the President.

Nothing New
However, it's doubtful whether the memo told Mr. Johnson a single new political fact he hadn't known before, and some federal lobbyists wonder whether it's worth the trouble. Moreover, a few of the lobbyists are worried about jeopardizing their relationship with close congressional friends.

Protecting a confidence is the hallmark of the astute lobbyist. But now they have been asked to pass on to the President the inmost thoughts of the congressional Democrats they know best. Some of them worry that this could amount to betraying a confidence, and thereby impair their usefulness.

Despite these fears, the lobbyists are now spending long hours compiling an intimate, detailed record for the President of what his leaders in his own party think ails him and his program. And that record must be making Bible College at Mr. Vernon, whose prestige in Congress today is at the lowest level of any President since Harry Truman 15 years ago. The intimate reports he's taking upstairs in the White House for his night reading can do little but embroil the President in the religious program at two area state parks.

2 Fined for Topsy Driving
Pay $175 Each;
Drivers' Licenses
Revoked for 1 Year

Two Appleton motorists were fined $175 each or 90 days in jail after they pleaded guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Jack M. Ringsmuth, 27, 1502 N. Racine St., was arrested by Appleton police early Wednesday morning after a patrolman spotted his car traveling at speeds up to 50 miles an hour on Wisconsin Avenue near Owassa Street.

Julie V. Captain Sr., 59, 1601 N. Mason St., was arrested by state police about 4:30 p.m. Monday at North and Grandview Roads, in the Town of Ellington.

In addition to the fines, Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller revoked the two motorists' drivers licenses for one year.

Pastor Appointed at Foursquare Church

The Rev. and Mrs. Bob Wakefield of Muscatine, Iowa have assumed the pastorate of the Foursquare Church at 815 Richmond St., Appleton.

The Wakefields are both graduates of the denomination's Bible College at Mt. Vernon, Ohio and come here from Oregon, Ill., where they pastored the Foursquare church there for the past three years.

Rev. Wakefield was active in the work of the ministerial association in Oregon and participated in the religious program at two area state parks.

19-Year-Old Youth Denies Contributing to Delinquency of Minor

Kenneth D. Raddatz, 19, 419 E. Roosevelt St., whom Appleton police said took a 15-year-old girl to California last month, pleaded guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor Tuesday.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller continued the case to Sept. 15 to allow Raddatz time to take a physical examination for armed service. The youth is free on a $250 bond signed by him and his mother.

Raddatz had pleaded innocent of the charge and trial was set for Nov. 27. However, he later changed his plea to guilty.

Appleton police said he and the girl went to California Aug. 26. They were taken into custody domestic service firms between in Los Angeles where police household employer and employed.

Workers in such firms would earn $23.50 an hour. They would have their own

Man Burns Hands Trying to Put Out Clothes Closet Fire

An Appleton man suffered minor burns on both hands as he attempted to put out a fire started by children playing with matches in the clothes closet at his home Tuesday evening.

Frank A. Erm, 1777 N. Douglas St., was treated by a doctor but was not hospitalized according to a member of the family.

The Appleton Fire Department arrival of firemen was confined to the closet and clothes. Erm burned his hands while attempting to take clothing off hangers. Firemen used a smoke ejector at the home for about 10 minutes.

Oncoming Car Injures Child

Three Persons Hurt in Multiple Auto Accident

An eight-year-old Appleton girl was injured when she darted into the front of a car about noon Tuesday at W. Prospect Avenue and Pine Street.

Police said that Kathryn Pertan, 24 Webster St., Neenah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce J. Brown, 17500 E. and Mrs. Peter Christensen, 1330 Spruce St., Appleton, and Harold Haverdale Drive, suffered a R. Gruetzmacher, 8 route 1 mouth and a bruised leg. She was taken to a doctor by her mother.

Mrs. Pertan suffered a neck injury. She reportedly crossed the whiplash Betty A. A Popular Decision—And a Good One

We applaud the forthright decision of County Juvenile Judge McHenry of Waupaca dismissing all legal proceedings against the 17-year-old youth who shot and killed a man who had broken into the home of the man's estranged wife's parents and threatened bodily harm to his wife and children. The youth also lived in the home.

As the judge remarked, we abhor acts of violence involving the taking of human life. But we are also happy that the law still recognizes the right of an individual to protect a home from invasion and to protect other individuals from physical violence.

There have been far too many crimes of violence of family origin in this area in recent years, where liquor and hate have been involved. This is one incident where a third party intervened to protect a mother and her children, and while it is unfortunate that it resulted in the death of the attacker, the judge declared that "it is impossible to arrive at any other conclusion from the undisputed facts in this case, and the rules of law set forth, than that the youth was fully justified in his decision and actions."

We would also like to compliment Waupaca County authorities for the method in which they handled the case. The investigation was thorough to the point that the court could be fully informed of all the facts. And both the rights of the individual and the public were fully protected.

Proposals for Middle East Peace

In the curious struggle to save face and national pride, when President Nasser says that he is willing to continue the war against Israel if he gets help from other Arab nations, he is really conceding that Egypt lost the June war and that it has no real alternative but to find a way toward peace.

Nasser's position, expressed at the "summit" meeting of representatives from some of the Arab nations at Khartoum, puts him in line with King Hussein of Jordan. But already Yemen — or at least the republican government there still fighting against royalists — and the extremist regimes in Syria and Algeria have denounced the summit meeting. Syria has once again called for "a war of popular liberation" as the only way to drive Israel out of the Middle East.

Reportedly, while Nasser has so far rejected the proposals for a settlement made by representatives of Yugoslavia, he may not be far from accepting them. Fortunately there are some backdoor ways of making concessions that give the Arabs some opportunity to save face with their own people.

The Yugoslavian proposals, which the Yugoslav foreign minister presented at the White House, call for Israel to withdraw from all the Arab territory it has occupied since the war, some sort of an Arab declaration of non-belligerency with Israel, free passage of Israeli ships through the Strait of Tiran, access to the Suez canal for Israeli cargoes on other ships and indemnification of the Palestinian refugees. Since no Arab leader yet can bring himself publicly to agree to the continued existence of Israel as a nation, observers have suggested that the Arab nations reaffirm the United Nations Charter provision that all member nations have the right to live in peace. Israel is a member so would be included but of course not mentioned by name. The Security Council could also go on record as guaranteeing passage through the Gulf of Aqaba if Egypt agreed.

Meanwhile Nasser is bothered by the continued war in Yemen which he obviously has neither the will nor the resources to fight after the defeat of Egyptian forces by Israel. He has unofficially proposed that he would begin to withdraw his troops from Yemen within the next three months and that other Arab nations would supervise a plebiscite to determine whether the republican or royalist regime should have control in Yemen. The problem here is that neither Saudi Arabia, which supports the royalist cause, nor the republican government, agrees to the solution.

If Nasser is to remain in power in Egypt, somehow he must begin to rebuild the country economically without losing the emotional appeal which undying opposition to Israel creates among Arabs. Of all the Arab countries, Egypt's development in the last few decades has been the most disappointing, in part because of the amount of funds spent on the military. Nasser may not have much time to rebuild. Already he has had to put down a military plot to overthrow him and has subsequently purged the top command of the army.

The Yugoslavian proposals certainly are along the line of those that must be made if there is to be peace in the Middle East. It may be as hard to persuade the Israelis as the Arabs to make concessions, however. After all Israel won the war.

A New Wildlife Policy

One of the enduring fallacies in American public affairs is the idea that wildlife resources are of primary concern only to the hunter and fisherman who want to harvest them. It was shown in the rebellion of the "red shirts" during the deliberations leading up to a consolidated and integrated natural resources department in the Wisconsin state government. It is shown repeatedly in the stylistic habits of newspaper copy desk editors, here and elsewhere, in labelling the "conservation commission" the "game commission." Wisconsin conservation enforcement officers for many years have been legally named "wardens." But half of the populace, according to our observation, continues to insist upon "game wardens."

Thus we were pleased to note the recent declaration of a new federal policy for wildlife damage control as written by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. It calls for the conservation and management of fish and wildlife resources "for the use and enjoyment of the entire citizenry."

Key paragraphs of the policy are worth repetition and reflection by Wisconsin opinion leaders, legislators, and others.

A turning point has been reached in the philosophy of wildlife values," the department asserted. "The people of this country are expressing greater interest and a new appreciation for all wildlife."

Wildlife programs must be shaped not only for the consumer — the sportsman — "but also for the ever-increasing proportion of people who simply enjoy seeing and hearing wild animals in their native habitat, or for that matter, simply enjoy the knowledge that these animals do exist."

Mr. Udall deserves a cheer for incorporating into the declared policy of his important department the obvious but somehow neglected fact that millions of Americans regard the wildlife resource as an esthetic endowment, and that there are vast numbers of citizens and taxpayers concerned about it who have no interest whatever in shooting game or putting fish in the pan.

In Wisconsin there has been a gradual acceptance of the fact that it is now the general taxpayer, rather than the fishing and hunting license holder, who provides most of the money for the state Conservation Department, and all of the money for the Resource Development Department, which are being combined into a new Department of Natural Resources. We would hazard a guess that if a true count could be made of those men, women and children who practice nature photography, or enjoy camping, hiking, nature study, or thrill to the sight of a roadside deer on an auto trip, they would exceed those who qualify as "sportsmen" by buying fishing and hunting licenses. Mr. Udall has acknowledged it, and we salute him for it.

Looking Backward

'What an Agonizing Situation!'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 28, 1867.

The Republican Republicans are agonizing over the situation. From the Milwaukee Sentinel right down to the poorest reprint, their Press is urging the fact upon the attention of party that this State Election has a national significance.

Verily it has national significance. Shall we continue to pay our proportion of $387,000,000 to defray the ordinary expenses of general government when one-third the amount would be an abundance?

Shall we continue to fund the debt into bonds to be redeemed in gold when we must take paper rags for all the debts due individuals? These are part of the "fruits of war."

Shall we continue to pay double price for our clothes and treble price for our iron, not to help pay the great debt but to enrich Manufacturing Xobobs?

Shall all the North-West, save the very rich, become "bewers of wood and drawers of water" to purse-proud, clammy-skinned Eastern capitalists?

Every good citizen, in view of his responsibility to God and his fellows, should ponder these matters dispassionately and then obey the dictates of conscience. No man has the right to stifle his better impulses, as he must do to vote the Republican ticket.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 3, 1942.

The U. S. government that day requisitioned from the Midwest and Southwest all the remaining rail tank cars transporting gasoline there.

'LBJ Is a Political Animal' (Gov. Romney, Aug. 30)

On The Right

Rockefeller and Javits Have Deal
If Romney's Campaign Falters

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

In New York, it is gradually transpiring that Senator Jacob K. Javits is reconciled to the probability that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will become a candidate for the GOP nomination. It is important that Javits should be reconciled because when, a year ago, Nelson Rockefeller was fighting for his political life, Javits thought to take advantage of Rock's decline of Gov. George W. Romney, followed by the deafening conscription campaign of prominent New York centers of Republican power, e.g. Time Inc., Saturday Evening Post, both of which have recently identified Rockefeller as standing between the republic and utter perdition.

WILL STAY LOOSE
Now Javits has said that his commitment to Romney is "for the time being," and cryptographers everywhere came to the conclusion that what he meant was: Rockefeller and I "we have never been closer together," he also said; are decided to stay loose so that if Romney fumbles, we can disengage our forces whole.

What was the quid pro quo from Rocky? No one knows for sure. Javits may have been faced by negative pressure: by anxiety about his own reelection. The Democrats are looking for somebody strong to run against him. They have mentioned Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, and now they are mentioning Robert Wagner and a sleeper, Morris Abram.

Abram is young (Javits is getting on), a formidable orator, a lawyer, an immigrated southern liberal and (how could they do this to Javits) President of the American Jewish Committee. Javits' only possible response to the nomination of Abram would be to accuse the American Jewish Committee of anti-Semitism, but that might just not go.

So: Rockefeller is likely to go to Miami as favorite son, pledged to do everything in his power for Javits, probably including a lot of money for Javits' campaign.

NIXON STILL STRONG

Nixon is still strong, and he has carefully formulated his line on Vietnam, gambling that the people will want firmness rather than — as Senator Thruston B. Morton, who is backing Charles Perry believes — tergiversation. Nixon gave an interview last week to the Christian Science Monitor in which he said it was time to "fish or cut bait," calling for "massive pressure" on North Vietnam short of nuclear war. Strangely, at the same time he called for encouraging "more trade with the Soviet Union and Eastern European countries," which is less, some point out, than massive pressure against North Vietnam and its provisioners. Another Nixon line: "Never in the history of the United States have we been disliked in more countries than right now." Nixon knows, from personal experience, that that line is politically potent.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is giving more and more people the jitters. California Democratic National Committeeman Eugene L. Wyman has said he fears Reagan could beat Johnson. And Senator Everett Dirksen, who likes success, agreed to introduce Reagan when he returns to his alma mater (Eureka College, Ill.) to dedicate a new building on Sept. 28. Asked whether Dirksen had made any commitment to Reagan to stay away from Nixon after the primaries, Dirksen said coyly — "No, but I might on September 28."

Oddly on who gets the nomination? Nixon 40 (out of 100), Romney 10, Rockefeller 15, Percy 5, Reagan 30.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A plant dedicated to making "stronger holes" — some 10 billion a year — was opened here recently.

The one-story $1.5 million structure will manufacture metallic cyelets. Ranging from pea to penny size, the tiny items produced here in Emhart Corporation's Plymouth division plant will come in more than 2,000 combinations and styles and will consume some 4 million pounds of aluminum, brass and steel alloys.

Wisconsin Report

School Aid Issue Is Necessarily Involved
In State Politics

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It is a shame, a Sturgeon Bay public school officer told an Assembly committee, that the question of the legitimate and proper level of state financial support for the local schools is kicked about in partisan politics.

Undoubtedly there are many earnest school superintendents and local school board members who share the regret of Edgar Rudolph.

Wyngaard

But they should not be surprised. The school aid issue has been a matter of dispute, accusation and countercharge in Wisconsin politics during most of the lifetimes of the adult residents of Wisconsin. It is likely to become a more fiercely fought issue, as the size of the school aid commitment becomes ever more difficult to manage in Madison and as the inexorable pressure of properly taxpayer resentment makes those responsible for the operation of the local schools more apprehensive.

REASON EASY TO FIND

The reasons are not difficult to find. The naked eye will observe them now as the school doors open to nearly a million Wisconsin boys and girls. Most of them are entering buildings that are more comfortable and attractive and more costly than their forbears knew and are receiving a variety of services that are escalating in costs to levels that would have been startling as recently as a decade ago.

The entire question of state aid policy tends to be discussed and disputed in simplistic terms, perhaps inevitably, but nevertheless unfortunately. The result is that the average taxpayer finds it difficult to get a clear conception of what the fight is all about.

The local schoolmen are naturally parochial in their views. It is their own budget that is their immediate worry, the pressures upon them for high teaching salaries in a period of difficult recruitment, the demands of parents for service for their children, and a booming school age population.

IMPLICATIONS SEVERE

The local school lobby has taken the position, in effect, that the state must assume the responsibility of making up the difference between the growth of the local tax base and the growth of the total local school budget, that the local school properly tax rate cannot be permitted to rise in the future — in statewide terms. The implications of that position in state taxation are so severe that no one can now seriously speculate on the ultimate decision.

Strictly Personal

Some Illusions Are Necessary in Life

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Although I firmly believe that most of the trouble in the world is caused by people who are trying to run away from reality, I am equally sure that a certain kind of illusion is a good and necessary part of human life.

Harris

I recently visited friends in New Haven for a weekend — a young psychiatrist at the Yale Medical School and his wife, who have just had a baby.

The new mother was ecstatic about her child, and sublimely convinced that he was the most beautiful and charming baby in the world. The father looked upon her effusions approvingly. "Every new mother," he whispered to me, "must have this naive illusion — in order to give the child the full attention it needs."

Bernard Shaw, who was capable of many things, but not of love, once said: "Love represents a gross overestimation of the difference between one person and everybody else in the world."

This disenchanted Shaw was perfectly true — but Shaw didn't really understand that the illusion is essential to the proper running of society.

Love, of any kind, is a distortion of reality; the child is objectively not so wonderful, the sweetheart is objectively not so alluring. But the "realism" that sees this and knows this is not capable of making

BROAD VIEW NECESSARY

Yet it must be clear to the citizen who stands a step or two removed from the issue and the responsibility of the local school officers for its resolution that the state government must take a broader view. While the local superintendent worries about his own enrollment bulge, he tends to overlook the fact that the officials of the state have been confronted with an explosion in higher education that is proportionately greater numbers of students and even more difficult to accommodate financially.

The state school aid appropriation is only one of the pressing financial dilemmas confronted by the legislature and the governor, even as the school aid budget, whatever the local schoolmen think of it, is only one of a wide variety of financial aids to localities. Repetition becomes tedious, but it needs emphasis that 45 per cent of all local government costs are now borne by the state treasury. No legislature can consider the school aid question in a vacuum, just as no legislature can risk the decision that the local schools are more important as a responsibility than the financing of the burgeoning state universities and other higher educational services.

The whole difficult issue may be illuminated by recalling the fact that the parties, in their anxiety to please voters, tend to reverse their roles on the question of the adequacy or inadequacy of the school aid formula according to the shifting fortunes of the political competition. When the Democratic administrations of Gaylord Nelson and John Reynolds had the responsibility for operating the state services and formulating state budgets, the Republicans stood on the minority side of the aisle and heckled them on the school support question no less eagerly than the Democrats are baiting the Republican state regime today.

IMPLICATIONS SEVERE

The local school lobby has taken the position, in effect, that the state must assume the responsibility of making up the difference between the growth of the local tax base and the growth of the total local school budget, that the local school properly tax rate cannot be permitted to rise in the future — in statewide terms. The implications of that position in state taxation are so severe that no one can now seriously speculate on the ultimate decision.

the sacrifices and enduring the tediousness that is part of any close and continuing relationship.

It is the mother's "naive illusion" that keeps her going until she is ready to drop nothing less could command such heroic marshalling of energy, such expenditure of resources. Without it, she is merely a "dutiful" — and eventually a resentful — parent.

The same is true, to a somewhat lesser degree, in marriage. A marriage without love may seem stable and placid, but it can rarely rise to a crisis — it is too easily knocked off its course by emotional currents from the outside. Without love, mere duty cannot long resist the blandishments of pleasure.

So that love is not a sentimental fancy, or an attractive ornament on the social body, but a cohesive force compelling men and women to take care of each other with a resoluteness that cannot be achieved by any artificial means. The illusion keeps us going — but nothing except this illusion can lead us to the reality of spiritual satisfaction.

Miss Feeley Answers Queries About Truth in Lending Bill

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

No truth in lending bill could actually prevent an individual from getting into debt over his head if he is irresponsible to begin with.

But statistics show that many consumers, especially young marrieds, borrow too much for too long a period of time because they don't realize what it's going to cost them. Maybe if this new Truth in Lending Bill which passed the Senate and is now in the House, becomes law it will help the public to understand more clearly the actual cost involved in using credit.

Some questions that naturally occur to the consumer at this point:

Q Why does the consumer need a Truth in Lending Law?

A Because the consumer's financial stability depends in large part on his getting a fair return for his money. He should know the cost of borrowing so he can estimate his ability to repay.

Q If borrowing can cause so much confusion for the consumer why hasn't there been a Truth in Lending law before this?

A "No Simple Matter"

A Many economists have been concerned about this situation for years, but clarifying credit costs on a national scale is no simple matter. Many states have their own truth in lending laws. And previous bills in Congress have gotten no where. It has taken years of work by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and others to shape one that might have any chance of acceptance. The effort to give a more clarification of credit costs has involved bankers, retailers, consumer groups and small loan companies, all of whom had to be brought into the same framework only with their own divergent structures and already existing laws.

Q How did the cost of borrowing money get so complicated?

A No because it would be difficult to state in advance the dollar cost of revolving credit. The very fact

Because of the many different ways in which credit costs are set up. Financial historians point out that in the past when conservation lenders declined to accept what they thought were undue risks other lending institutions were created to accept such risks at a higher cost to borrowers.

Q What will the bill as it now stands mean to the consumer?

A If it becomes law it will require that both the annual true interest and the dollar cost of credit be stated in the contract in addition to the interest generally quoted. Any other charges such as service and delivery must also be clearly stated.

What's so confusing about a loan that's quoted at say 6 per cent interest per annum?

A Confusion can result from the fact that different types of loans, even though quoted at the same rate, produce different true interest rates. Also, there can be confusion as to what 6 per cent really means. A 6 per cent "add on" loan costing $6 for $100 will amount to 11.1 per cent in true interest for 12 months. This is because the $6 (6 per cent of $100) is added to the $100 at the time you get your loan — and over a 12 month period you are actually paying interest on the full $106. You will owe about $50 at the end of six months but you'll still be paying interest on the full $106 when you make the final payment.

Q On a 6 per cent discount loan costing $6 for $100 you will not receive $100 but $94. Here the true interest rate will be 11.8 per cent for a 12 month period. This is because while you received $94 you paid interest on the full $100. With this type of loan you have the use of less money even though the rate quoted is the same.

Q Are revolving credit arrangements affected by this bill?

A No because it would be difficult to state in advance the dollar cost of revolving credit. The very fact that it's revolving means that the true cost will depend on how the monthly unpaid balance fluctuates — whether the consumer makes additional purchases from time to time during the year.

Anyone Can Flub Badly At Bridge

There is no proof that the ability to play bridge well will bring you success in any other field. One of the keenest business men in the United States recently went down five tricks at a cold contract. He still thinks he was unlucky.

Our hero won the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds to try a finesse with the queen of spades. This lost to the king and back came a diamond. South took the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades gulping when West discarded a heart. When declarer lost a finesse to the king of clubs East drew the rest of the trumps with the ten and the jack. West kept all of his diamonds and took four tricks with them when East had finished drawing trumps. Down five.

Our keen business man won the first trick in the wrong hand for a bad reason. South should win the first trick with the ace of diamonds and lead the ace of spades as a safety play. If nothing startling happens on this trick he can lead the next trump from dummy toward his queen. As it happens the king of spades drops when the ace is led. Now South should lead a club to dummy's ace. When the jack of clubs drops South continues with the queen of clubs to force out the king. East returns a diamond to the king and declarer draws one more round of trumps with the queen and begins to lead high clubs. East can ruff and take another trump trick but he can take in all only two trumps and one club.

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

Tell that bride whose husband doubted her chastity, to run, not walk, to the nearest counselor. If that fails, advise her to get an annulment.

Nineteen years ago I married a man who told me on our wedding night that he was surprised to discover I was a virgin because a friend of his told him that he knew from experience that I was not. The informer was a sorehead, determined to get even with me for rejecting him.

Last night my husband kept me up until 2 a.m. insisting that the bottom crust before pouring help you with your problems. I break down and tell him the truth once and for all. I asked him if he was trying to drive me out of my mind or out of our marriage. He said he couldn't help it, that he had been brooding over this for years and I had never convinced him I was telling the truth. When I asked why he would take the word of an angry 18-year-old boy against mine — a faithful, loving wife of nearly 20 years — there was no answer. Do you have any advice for me? — Just Crushed.

Fashions at the Head of the Class

Miss Rita Ruechel and Miss Ann Ahrens, stopping at a locker between classes tell a fashion story in their choice of snappy prints and bright polka dots. Sandals and buckled shoes worn with tishnet stockings are a favorite with the high school crowd.

Carefree, Young Fashions are shown in the styles chosen by Miss Leslie Ingmanson, Miss Elizabeth Schultz and Miss Barbara Johnson. The horizontally striped dress is a fashion favorite with the teen-age set. The two-piece suit in a soft pastel green retains its neat appearance throughout a day of classes.

The newness of a school year is composed of many things — books, friends, classes, teachers and clothes.

At Appleton High School-East, the city's newest high school, the world of fashion has gone back to class.

Stripes, both vertical and horizontal, perky prints, and solid colored materials peppered with polka-dots give the new hallways and classrooms a lively, young atmosphere.

Skirts are above the knees and coordinated with opaque, colored and textured stockings.

Shoulder bags have been chosen by the young women, who know the difficulty of balancing textbooks and the more cumbersome clutch bags.

Sandals and the familiar loafer are the shoes that most of the girls have chosen, although the patent tie shoe is also a popular choice.

Hairstyles vary from the close cropped short style to the longer style. Simplicity is the keynote in either case.

The overall fashion look in the new hallways this year is one of carefree youthfulness. From the almost shapeless shift to the more tailored suit, the students choices reflect the fall forecast of fashion designers.

Jr. Woman's Club Schedules Fall Tea

The Appleton Junior Woman's Club has scheduled its Fall Membership Tea from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mrs. Richard Dratz, 501 E. Greenfield St.

Mrs. Michael Lukashewich, chairman of the event, will be assisted by Mrs. Dratz, Mrs. Donald Glenton, Mrs. Leonard Schimke and Mrs. Kurt Schoenrock. Also working at the event will be Mrs. Robert Donahue, Mrs. John Gschwind, Mrs. James Reidl, Mrs. Schoenrock and Mrs. Robert Swan.

Hostesses will be Mrs. James Zwack, club president, Mrs. Dratz and Mrs. Frank Lehman.

Miss Sue Krueger's outfit of a bright flowered print shift and colored stockings show that summer isn't over yet in the halls of the new high school. (Post-Crescent Photos)

World Designers Receive Fashion Awards at Capri

By LEONORA DODSWORTH

CAPRI, Italy (AP) — The "Maremoda '68" fashion event held on Capri over the last three days reached its climax Tuesday with the presentation of golden "Tiberius" awards to personalities in international fashion.

California designer Rudi "Mr. Topless" Gernreich, who flew here especially for the occasion, received his award for the brightest ideas in fashion. He returned the compliment by praising Italian women as the most elegant in the world.

New Yorker Kenneth Lane, who makes costume jewelry that has become a status symbol among the smart set, received his prize for the best accessory.

Wins 'Oscar'

Emilio Pucci, blue-blooded Florentine designer whose printed creations will probably end up in the Hall of Fame, got his "Oscar" for his sense of continuity in fashion.

France picked up two prizes, one to Pierre Cardin for his mens' wear and one to Roger Vivier for his fashion footwear.

Paco Rabanne, whose plastic, paper and metal chain creations have revolutionized women's wear, won the avant garde award.

Absent Designer

Milanese designer Ken Scott whose brilliant flower prints had won him a Tiberius award for his sense of color, didn't turn up for the ceremony.

Say Vows in Double Ring Ceremony

KIMBERLY — Holy Name of Jesus Catholic Church was the setting at 1 p.m. today for the wedding of Miss Barbara Rooyakkers and Richard Dresang. The Rev. Paul Fellenz officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rooyakkers, 213 S. Sidney St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Dresang, 140 S. Lincoln St.

The bride chose her sister, Miss Karen Rooyakkers, as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Lenz and Miss Karen Dresang.

James Geenen performed the duties of best man. The bridegroom was also attended by Gary Dresang and Thomas Rooyakkers. Guests were seated by James Vanden Heuvel and Ralph Lamers.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at the Darboy Club, Darboy.

The new Mrs. Dresang is employed by Wichmann Furniture Co., Appleton. Her husband is a student at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

After a honeymoon to northern Wisconsin, the newlyweds will reside in Kimberly.

First Ladies of South Vietnam Show Paradox of Asian Women

By KELLY SMITH
SAIGON (AP) — The First Ladies of South Vietnam reflect the paradoxes among Asian womanhood. Mrs. Nguyen Van Thieu, wife of the chief of state and president-elect, is a shy and modest housewife who stays in the background of the social and political world. Mrs. Nguyen Cao Ky, wife of the premier and vice president-elect, is a fetching raven-haired beauty, one of the young Vietnamese who wear Paris clothes, have their noses reshaped and their eyes widened. Each mirrors her husband's personality. Mrs. Thieu avoids the limelight but showed up at her husband's side for the campaign. The wife of the flamboyant Ky makes news wherever she goes, whether by wearing a black flight suit or taking her own photographs for the family scrapbook. During the campaign, their husbands often appeared to avoid one another in competition as much with each other as with the other 10 civilian candidates. Thieu and Ky both wanted to run for president, and they hammered out a compromise that wrought anger in both camps. "The wives show the jealousy of their husbands more than their husbands do themselves," said one observer who knows both. "Both women are devoted to their husband's role. It's natural they should react that way."

Mrs. Thieu grew up in the heavily populated Mekong delta south of Saigon in a town called My Tho on the muddy Mekong River. Its tree-lined streets and one-story pastel houses are a far different setting from the childhood of Mai Ky. "Troubled Childhood" She was born near Hanoi, of a Buddhist family, and named Dang Thi Tuyet Mai. That means "cherry blossoms of the snow." Her father was assassinated and at 13 she fled to South Vietnam when the Communists took over the North. She attended a private school in the mountain resort of Dalat, became an airline stewardess at 20, and later was named "Miss Air Vietnam."

She met Ky at a lavish ball celebrating his appointment as commander of the air force, and danced with him and fell in love. Ky was divorced from a French woman and the father of four. Mai was 11 years his junior. They were married, one against opposition from his family and she set out to adapt herself to what she calls her husband's sweetheart—the air however. Mrs. Thieu, a Roman Catholic, was popular, encouraged her fiancée—a young handsome army officer—to convert. He aspired to power in a country where power may mean death, imprisonment or family harassment, and she moved to Saigon knowing all this. The Thieus have two children, a girl 13 and a boy 6, rarely seen at public functions. The Ky family includes his four children from his previous marriage and their 16-month-old daughter, Duyen—a name meaning "the wonderful love story."

Both women wear Western clothes and a Vietnamese hairstyle. Vietnamese women go to beauty parlors more often than Americans but rarely take an active public role. What they are said to do behind the scenes is another matter. Thieu says Vietnamese wives like to stay home with their children. They help a man in other ways. Women don't like one another to make speeches and campaign. Thieu and Ky are both proud of their wives' independence.

Independent Wives Before the election Thieu said he didn't even expect his wife to vote for him. "We are very democratic." Both women have worked hard for charities in the country, for the Red Cross, orphan-ages and needy families. Both Thieu and Ky say they must coax their wives to join them at public functions where there are certain to be photographers' curiosity seekers and throngs of people.

Private Lives Seen privately, Mrs. Thieu—who speaks fluent English—is relaxed and chatty. Mrs. Ky is more comfortable in French but has learned English rapidly in the last year. Like all women they have weaknesses. Both are said to be Batman fans.

Miss Americas Find Joy, Heartache After Reigns End

BY JOY MILLER

The sleek suburban matrons who have battled time to keep their proportions as enviable as when they smiled their way to victory at Atlantic City, the thoroughly domesticated home-makers with successful husbands and loving children, the talented young women who know how to make the title work for them, in short, the HAPPY former Miss Americas—recall their reigning year with enthusiasm, or at least gratitude for what it taught them.

A few won't talk about it at all.

"It takes years to adjust to having been Miss America," says BeBe Shopp, who held the title in 1948. Mother of four girls, she has been married for 13 years to Bayard David Waring, Lynnfield, Mass. businessman. She goes on:

"Marilyn Van Derbur and I figure it to be 10 years, and then only if one is married—for the greatest adjustment must take place between two people. But first a woman, no matter who she is, must know herself—and you can't do that overnight after having been Miss America."

Valuable Education
Marilyn Van Derbur, a green-eyed blonde from Denver who at 20 won the title for 1958, calls the year of her reign "exciting, exhausting, glamorous, completely demanding and perhaps, most of all, a million dollar education."

Marilyn is now the happy wife of her high school sweetheart, Larry Adler, a Denver lawyer (after a brief first marriage that she calls "wrong from the beginning"). She does television commercials, convention speaking and fashion show commentating. She says:

"I would not have had the career I do if I had not been Miss America. I never expected to win. Of the four of us sisters, I was the one who was knock-kneed, wore braids and was in love with my horse. But I did win, and yes, in some ways, it completely changed my life. Would I do it again? Absolutely! But only once!"

Beauty Pageant
The Miss America Pageant officials are touchy about its being called a contest; it is the grand dame of beauty events and, by now, a living piece of Americana.

Over the years its emphasis has switched from cheesecake poise and talent, and the rewards have moved from vaudeville bookings to a whole program of college scholarships. That, plus the firm, guiding hand of Lenora Slaughter for 32 years, has made the pageant heavily respectable, wholesome enough to attract the girl-next-door who plays the piano in Sunday school and plans to get married right after college.

Readjust Lives
What happens, then, when this all-American girl, after a heady year of public adulation and careful private chaperonage, is on her own in the world? How have our Miss Americas made out?

To find the answer The Associated Press conducted an informal survey, in which 27 Miss Americas participated. Almost to a woman, their replies indicated that their lives—sometimes after post-pageant tribulations—have been happy, productive, successful.

"I never dreamed life could be so blissfully happy," says Lynda Mead, Miss America of 1960, who adds she is married to a wonderful husband (Dr. John Shea Jr., of Memphis, Tenn.) and has a fine little son.

Happily Married
"I have been happy for the last 32 years," says Henrietta

Leaver, Miss America of 1935, now Mrs. John Thomason of Columbus, Ohio. "I could ask for nothing better than I already have—a wonderful husband, home, friends and grandchildren."

"Each day I live a day of success and satisfaction," says the former Evelyn Ay, now Mrs. Carl Sempier of Berwyn, Pa. and mother of two daughters. The Miss America of 1954, engaged during her reign to Sempier, a fellow student at the University of Pennsylvania, explains: "I wrestled with the career versus marriage question for the entire Miss America year. The decision, after complete evaluation of life and what I wanted from it: marriage."

Mark of Success
"I know that I am extremely happy and if that is any criteria for success, well then, I suppose I am successful," says actress Lee Meriwether, wife of actor Frank Aletter and mother of two small girls.

Some former Miss Americas avoid publicity because public overemphasis on their divorces has made them sensitive.

"These girls haven't done any more divorcing than anyone else," Miss Slaughter rises to their defense. "It's the usual route for a certain number, because people divorce today and they didn't in days gone by. You can't blame it on being Miss America."

Picks Herself Up
The doughty Miss Slaughter is especially proud of Jacque Mercer, Miss America of 1949, because she was able to pick herself up after two quick, unsuccessful marriages in three years, go back to college and make the dean's honor list. In her senior year she married the football captain, Richard P. Curran, now a Phoenix advertising executive, and she has made a happy life for her husband and two children.

Some are quite candid about what caused their divorce.

Jo-Carroll Dennison (Miss America of 1942) was married to actor Phil Silvers from 1945-1950. "I was immature in too many ways in my early 20s," she says. "I didn't settle down to domesticity until I was 30. I doubt that I could have."

After working as an actress for several years she married Russell Stoneham, a television director, "fill death," she says. Mrs. Stoneham has two young sons.

Great Expectations
"Now I know what will make me happy, but without having worked, doing my jobs, traveling a great deal, being rich, poor again, I would have been discontented, I think. My life now is happier and more complete than I had ever hoped, and I always had great expectations."

Sharon Kay Ritchie (1956) married Don Cherry, singer and golfer, as her reign ended. They have two young sons. Now she is the wife of Kyle Rote, Hall of Fame football player and sportscaster. She says:

"Since my first husband was and is in show business he was always away from home. I was terribly lonely and didn't want to spend my life as a young woman alone. We were divorced in 1961 and are very close friends now."

TV Personality
Perhaps the best-known Miss America is twice-divorced Bess Myerson (1945), who has had a blooming television career for years.

After she became Miss America, BeBe Shopp Waring recalls, "I kept in the back of my mind something Bess Myerson sold me: 'Don't count on your title to get you anywhere—a door will open fast but close faster if you can't stand on your own two feet and prove yourself.'"

Launched Career
At almost 26, the oldest girl to become Miss America, Colleen Kay Hutchins (1952) says: "My career was already well on its way before I became Miss America. I had graduated from the Pasadena Playhouse and was completing my doctorate in theater at the University of Utah. After my year I had a very active career on Broadway, but I felt that the title did interfere, as it tended to typecast me. To me, Miss America was not the beginning, as it was with so many of the younger girls."

She has not pursued acting after marrying Dr. Ernest Vandeweghe, pediatrician at the UCLA medical school and formerly a professional basketball player with the New York Knickerbockers. They have four children.

Lee Meriwether, who played

Catwoman in the Batman movie and stars in the TV series "Time Tunnel," says: "I didn't exactly want a theatrical career. The job as woman's editor on Dave Garroway's Today show was offered to me while I was still on tour. My father had passed away and I had become breadwinner; my younger brother was still in school. So I took the job instead of going back to college and used my Miss America scholarship to study acting in New York on the side."

Another Miss America married to an actor is Marian McKnight (1957), wife of Gary Conway (remember him in "Burke's Law"?) and mother of Kathleen, 5. They met while students at UCLA. "When we met he didn't ask me out until weeks later. He assumed a Miss America would be swamped with dates with celebrities."

Needed Rest
After crowning her successor, Marian says, "I wanted nothing more than to get lost and rest." Now, she adds, she has a sound marriage and a sense of personal fulfillment.

The only Miss America never to be married is actress Mary Ann Mobley (1959). "Either I'm a devout coward or terribly wise, but I've never taken the big step. . . I just haven't met the right one yet. When I do, I'll shout it to the world."

In an acting career the Miss America label has one drawback, Mary Ann found:

"They expect you to have no brains, talent or dedication. It's a hard attitude to fight and it takes time and good roles to prove that you're in show business for a far deeper reason than because you've had a year in the limelight."

Personal Success
"Success is relative and according to my standards I feel that I've been rather successful. I'm having a career on my own terms and I have some good friends. The only thing that would make me happier would be to be happily married with a houseful of children."

Marilyn Buford (1946), now on her third marriage to Milton J. Stevens, New York industrialist, says she acted in films in Italy for six years, but "I think I've made a success because I'm happily married and have a wonderful son—wish I had more."

Jean Bartel (1943) is an international television and travel consultant with her own show, "It's a Woman's World."

Voices Complaint
Rosemary LaPlante (1941), who was in motion pictures at age 3, complains, "Somehow, producers tend to believe beauty contest winners can't act." She is married to Harry Koplan, a television executive, and they have two teen-age children.

"I don't think they're ready to elect women to the state legislature down here," comments Mrs. John Hummel of Memphis, Tenn., formerly Barbara Walker (1947) a Republican who was squeezed out at the polls.

What others are doing: Nancy Fleming (1961) who married William F. Johnson, a Berkeley, Calif. attorney, has a baby daughter, Marilyn Meske (1938) widowed in 1965, married another airline pilot, Capt. Ben F. Rogers, last year in Miami. She has a son in the Air Force.

Frances Burke (1940), married to Philadelphia businessman Lawrence Kenney, has four children. She wouldn't want her two daughters to enter the pageant: "There are more important things."

Beautiful Mary Catherine Campbell (1922-23) retired with her husband, Frederick S. Townley, to St. Augustine, Fla. and is painting in oils. Ruth Malcolmson (1924), Mrs. Carl A. Schaubel of Chester, Pa., is busy photographing her three grandchildren.

Many of the former winners are happy to limit their post-Miss America careers to acting as mistress of ceremonies for one of the 3,000 local contests or 50 state pageants each year.

Neva Jean Langley, for example, Miss America of 1953, is married to realtor William A. Fickling Jr., of Macon, Ga., whom she met in college, and mother of four children. She points out:

"My life is lived as though I never was a celebrity. I love looking back on the wonderful times I had, but I don't believe that I could successfully interrupt a public career with raising a family. I make about three out-of-town appearances as a former Miss America each year. This seems quite enough."

Marriage Enough

It also seems quite enough for Maria Beale Fletcher (1962) married to James H. Growdon Jr., a medical student at Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tenn.; and for Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer (1963), married to attorney John A. Townsend of Washington, Pa., and the mother of a young son.

Donna Axum, divorced, runs a charm school for girls in her hometown of El Dorado, Ark., and does television commercials. She reigned in 1964.

During their reign the girls can make from $75,000 to $100,000 if they accept all bookings. Vonda Kay Van Dyke (1965) made the most, $103,000.

One former Miss America says: "I feel sorry for some of my 'sisters.' Some expected so much more out of life but forgot to give along the way."

Jo-Carroll Stoneham sums up the Miss America experience this way: "Now that I am a constantly chubbier 43, people will say to strangers, 'She was a Miss America, you know', and they are almost always very impressed. When I was younger I resented that, for I wanted to impress with my mind, but now I find it fun, and pull in my stomach muscles."

Six Former Miss Americas held a reunion at the annual pageant in 1960. Shown are Mrs. Carl Schaubel, formerly Evelyn Ay, Miss Pennsylvania of 1954; Mrs. Richard P. Curran, formerly Jacqueline Mercer, Miss Arizona of 1949; Mrs. David Waring, formerly BeBe Shopp, Miss Minnesota of 1948;

Mrs. Robin Harris, formerly Patricia Donnelly, Miss Michigan of 1939; Mrs. Carl Schaubel, formerly Ruth Malcolmson, Miss Pennsylvania of 1924, and Mrs. Victor Cahill, formerly Mrs. Margaret Gorman, Miss District of Columbia, 1921.

Secretaries Set Dinner Meeting, Tell Speaker

OSHKOSH — Sarres Supper Club will be the setting at 7 p.m. Sept. 18 for a dinner meeting of the Winnebago County Chapter of Legal Secretaries Association. Richard Becker, an agent of the state probation and parole board, will talk on Operations and the Functions of Parole Agents.

Secretaries interested in joining the organization have been invited.

Reservations may be made with Miss Lorelee Jungwirth, P. O. Box 1216, Oshkosh.

Junior Auxiliary Sets Meeting

LITTLE CHUTE — An election of officers has been scheduled by the Junior American Legion Auxiliary when it meets at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the village hall. Girls, who are at least six years of age and have a brother or father who is a legion member, will be welcome at the event.

Members of the program committee are Miss Christie Bongers, Miss Deborah DeBruin, Miss Denise Driessen, Miss Tina Jansen, Miss Mary Jane Van Hoof and Miss Ann Vandenberg. Mrs. Raymond Bera and Mrs. Jesse Bevers will be on the serving committee.

Professor Predicts Pill For 'At Home' Abortions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A professor of religion says "in a few years there will be safe 'do it yourself' abortion medications" so women can decide whether to have a baby.

Prof. R. Paul Ramsey of Princeton University made the prediction in a paper prepared for the opening today of an International Conference on Abortion, sponsored by the Harvard Divinity School and the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

Some 70 experts in religion, law, medicine and the social sciences are participating in closed panel discussions today and Thursday. About 1,500 prominent persons from this country and abroad will take part in open sessions Friday.

Goldberg to Talk
The closing address Friday will be given by Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

In a summary of his paper, Dr. Ramsey contrasted the differing legal and moral considerations of abortion but noted this distinction may soon be outmoded.

"This is soon going to become a question having nothing to do with the panel code, a practice wholly in the personal or private realm which laws cannot reach," he said.

Abortion Pills
"More important," he continued, "is the fact that in a few years there will be safe 'do it yourself' abortion medications so that no one need resort to what the state legislature thinks about it."

"Abortion will have been brought entirely into the arena of private decision," he said.

Dr. Ramsey said some fashionable women's magazines have already discussed this procedure under the name of the "M-pill."

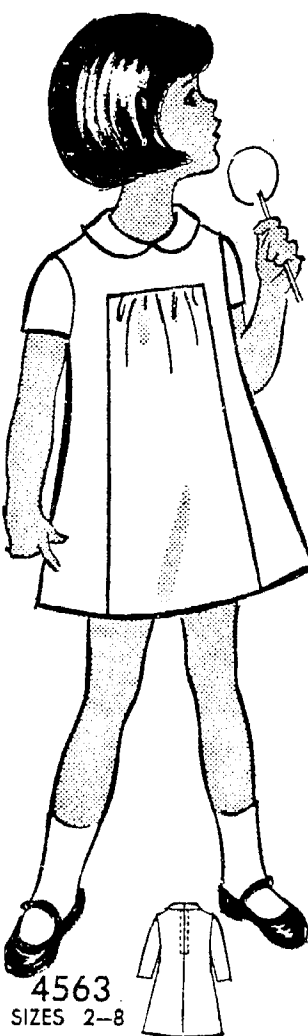

"Any woman will be able to keep herself systematically ignorant of whether she is with some frequency performing an abortion on herself," he said, by taking the pill regularly, whether or not she thinks she's pregnant.

Affect Abortion
"She need not face the question whether" she should affect an abortion, Dr. Ramsey said. "She only need imagine, she will be systematically tempted to believe, that she is only doing what comes naturally every month."

Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver, executive vice president of the Kennedy Foundation, told reporters at a briefing Tuesday its interest in abortion stems directly from its interest in child development and mental retardation.

Raises Question
Noting that it is becoming increasingly possible to detect mental retardation before the

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Lovely Weekend

Did you ever return from a weekend jaunt more tired than when you left home? Just fighting traffic is enough to wear you down. But you come home from what was supposed to be a rest cure, in need of one, if you are overtaken by exercise and social activities.

This is not to say that a weekend should be given over to bed rest. No play makes Jill a dull girl. Pale and pudgy in the bargain!

But to look and feel verily after a junket you have to strike a nice balance among tour pastimes. A much pressured career woman told me that she manages to recoup by placing her weekends as though she were at a health spa with supervised activities. Actually it's a good idea.

Spa schedules apportion time for exercise, socializing, rest, periods and beauty treatments. Rodney Vaughan.

Y's Menettes Plan Activities

Prospective Y's Menettes members were welcomed to the first meeting of the season by Mrs. Gene Britton, club president. Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ernest Winski.

Members will correspond to sister clubs in Kingston, Jamaica, and Buenos Aires, Argentina, during the year. They also voted to sell the Wisconsin calendar, printed by the State Historical Society.

Co-hostesses for the event were Mrs. Robert Brinkman, for exercise, socializing, rest, periods and beauty treatments. Rodney Vaughan.

Police are aiding with morning, noon, and after-school traffic on Calumet Street at Schaefer and Telulah streets because of heavy traffic congestion around Appleton High School East. The problem occurs because E. John Street is closed for resurfacing and there is only one entrance to the new school—off Calumet. Police say the problem will be alleviated with the reopening of John Street in about a week and with the opening of a new street into the school from Telulah. In the above photo, the camera was pointed west on Calumet, at Schaefer, and the photo at right shows the obstacles students walking to school face on E John Street, because of the repair work. Industry Interested in Building Plant

City Council Wants Option on 35 Acres at Old Airport Site

Appleton aldermen voted Wednesday night to seek an option on 35 acres of old Outagamie County airport property for an industry which reportedly wants to build a plant here.

The city would offer the county $2,700 per acre for the land on the far northeast side, selling it back to the prospective firm at $2,880 per acre.

This was the explanation given the city council by Ald. Norman Beyer (20th), chairman of the industrial-commerce committee.

"An industry wants to come in here and it has need for the airport site," Beyer explained. Beyer said the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce was handling the matter and reportedly had been turned down by Outagamie County officials when attempting to purchase the land.

"We don't know what it is (the firm) except that it will hire between 150 and 200 people, have an air-conditioned plant and be a large volume water user," Beyer continued.

(The Post-Crescent has learned existing industry hopes to eventually relocate at the port site.)

Beyer said he had no other details—that they were being handled by the Chamber of Commerce.

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), a committee member, said once

Fire Department Hires Two Men

Two men, including a former Appleton policeman, will start work with the Appleton Fire Department Monday.

Chief Roland Kuehni announced the new firemen as William H. Wolff, 29, 901 Fern Meadow Drive, and William Schultz, 27, 616 S. Locust St., both of Appleton. Wolff and Schultz were hired as replacements for two men who recently resigned, Kuehni explained.

Wolff, a Neenah native, quit the Appleton Police Department June 1, after more than 7 years on the force. Since then he has worked as a route salesman. He and his wife have two children. Schultz, an Appleton native, worked as a laboratory assistant for the Institute of Paper Chemistry. He graduated from Appleton High School, attended St. Norbert College, and served with the Army. He and his wife have three children.

the city obtained an option to city "has been getting the purchase, the industry would run around on all this business, make a decision within 60 days."

Authorization Mayor George Buckley and City Clerk Elden Broehm were authorized to sign the option should it be granted by the county board.

Lawrence Student Gets Probation for Offense

Steve Blaha, a 19-year-old Lawrence University student from Long Island, N.Y., Wednesday afternoon was placed on probation until May 15 after he changed his plea to guilty on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

An identical charge against Vaughn Ariano, 21, 121 W. College Ave., Appleton, another Lawrence student, was dismissed on a motion by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer who told the court that on the basis of information his office has, "Blaha was responsible for what took place."

"Somewhat Instrumental" Schaefer said that Miss Ariano was "somewhat instrumental in bringing the matter to the attention of police."

Blaha, who is an officer of Lawrence's SDS (Students for a Democratic Society), and Miss Ariano were charged late in July following investigation by Appleton detectives Det. Leo Bosch testified in Outagamie County Court Branch 1 Wednesday that investigation began after two 16-year-old girls had run away from home.

Bosch said that investigation revealed the girls had spent three nights in the College Avenue apartment occupied by Blaha, Miss Ariano and another girl. Bosch testified that on July 21, Blaha, the two juvenile girls and a 16-year-old Appleton boy hitchhiked to Madison where they stayed with a friend of Blaha's until July 23 when they hitchhiked back to Appleton. When they came back here, Miss Ariano, Blaha, and the three juveniles came to the police department, Bosch said

The court was told that at the time of the offense, Blaha was "employed at Lawrence University in a summer work program." Blaha and Miss Ariano, the latter of whom did not appear in court Wednesday, were free under $250 bonds. Blaha was in court with his mother, Blaha and Miss Ariano were represented by the same attorney.

Affidavit Filed Judge Urban P. Van Susteren heard the case after an affidavit of prejudice was filed July 28 against Judge Gustave J. Keller, in whose court the pair had pleaded innocent.

In withholding sentence and placing Blaha on probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services, Judge Van Susteren stated, "Your conduct, in this can only be described as being weird." He added, "You apparently never learned that in order to govern a country of 200 million people, we need laws." The judge said that if Blaha is not admitted to Lawrence University this fall, he will be brought before the court for imposition of sentence. "I'm quite sure the sentence will be a term in the jail," the judge told Blaha. The New York youth is not to leave the state without consent of his probation agent.

Judge Van Susteren commented briefly on letters he said were written by Blaha's doctor and English teacher, both of which he said were "complimentary." "You will go practically unpunished if you live up to the terms of your probation," the judge told Blaha.

Valley COG Endorses City HUD Request

Appleton Water Plans in Accord With Area Needs

The Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) has endorsed Appleton's request for federal funds to expand its water treatment plant as in accord with existing urban area-wide development policies.

The endorsement came in a letter from Eugene E. Franchetti, executive director of the council, to Appleton Mayor George Buckley. A copy of the letter will be sent to Washington in accord with a request by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for letters of recommendation from area and state planning agencies.

Dealt With Source

The letter stated that the original recommendations of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, the council's predecessor, regarding Appleton's water supply expansion program dealt with the source and not the treatment of the water.

"The reason," the letter relates, "was that there were alternative water sources under consideration and the technical review dealt with these alternatives. It was common knowledge that the Appleton treatment plant had reached its capacity in 1964 and there was agreement

City Council Approves Weekly Collections For Garbage-Rubbish

Weekly combined garbage-rubbish collections received an okay from the Appleton city council Wednesday night and will go into effect later in the month.

The revised, improved service was recommended by the street-sanitation committee after studies and surveys over a several month period.

Residential garbage and trash collections are presently segregated.

Under the existing program, garbage is picked up in residential areas twice a week. Trash collections are every two weeks.

Some aldermen who voted for the change expressed reluctance to do so but said they were

$130,000 in Improvements At Lawrence

Main Hall Given First Exterior Sandblasting Job

Repairs and improvements amounting to $130,000 are being made on the Lawrence University physical plant this summer, according to business manager Marwin O. Wroldstad.

Most visible to the passer-by is the sandblasting of historic Main Hall, which is being given its first exterior cleaning in the 114 years since it was built. Wooden trim on the building is also being refurbished.

At Alexander Gymnasium, the basketball floor has been lighted with new fluorescent fixtures, which according to Wroldstad, constitutes a "200 per cent improvement in lighting conditions." The fluorescent equipment will gradually be extended to all the other areas in the building as well.

Classroom Lights

Included in the total spent on repairs is the purchase of acoustical tile and fluorescent lights for all the classrooms in Main Hall. The work on the rooms will be done during the course of the year.

A major improvement carried on this summer has been the conversion of WLFM, the student-operated campus radio station, from monaural to stereophonic frequency modulation. The stereo equipment was obtained from WNAM. Neenah WLFM has been on the air since 1956. In the last several years it has gone to year-round operation, which was interrupted this summer to make the change to stereo. The station also broadcasts to students on a closed-circuit AM system.

The department of education has been relocated during the summer months from Main Hall to North House, just north of Memorial Chapel, which will enable it to have adequate room for its laboratories and teaching aids. Re-naming the house is now under consideration.

Landscaping around Main Hall and the Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science, included in the present budget, will be done next spring.

Myse Named to Planning Unit

Attorney to Fill Maurice Lewis' Unexpired Term

Attorney Gordon Myse, 1320 E. Pershing St., was appointed to the Appleton Plan Commission Wednesday night.

Mayor George Buckley made the appointment and it received confirmation by the city council.

Myse will fill the unexpired term of Maurice Lewis, an executive of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., who resigned after his transfer to Racine. The appointment runs to April 1, 1968.

Other members of the commission include Buckley, the chairman, Ald. Al Stoegbauer (4th), a retired bank employee; Lloyd Doerfler, an Appleton businessman; Raymond LeVec, a local architect; Arthur Jones, a park-recreation commission

City Refuses Church Offer Of $139,000

Mayor George Buckley broke a city council deadlock Wednesday night and voted against the proposed purchase of First Congregational Church property.

The action, which overrode recommendations of planners, the board of public works and city land acquisition committee, cast a cloud of doubt over the long-range plans for a new bridge over Oneida Street.

Aldermen were split down the middle on acquiring the property at 121 W. Lawrence St. at the cost of $139,000, the money payable over a five-year period.

Breaks Tie

Mayor Buckley, who is chairman of the board of public works and voted with that group Monday to recommend the acquisition, was asked to break the 10-10 tie and cast the deciding ballot.

At one point Buckley and City Clerk Elden Broehm thought a three-fourths majority was needed, but City Atty. David Geenen ruled otherwise and the mayor's vote had to be recorded.

Buckley gave no reason for his action.

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th) set the stage for blocking the property purchase when he asked for a separate vote on the item in the board of public works report.

Several aldermen made inquiries as to the need for the property and whether it would tie in with bridge and street approach construction.

Ask Study

Some also felt the city should first have an engineering firm make a bridge study and put in writing the actual area needed for a bridge and approaches.

Men Jailed For Theft

Charge Against Kaukauna Man Reduced by Judge

Commenting "I think you've learned a little lesson," Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell this morning sentenced Michael D. Krause, 23, 120 E. Third St., Kaukauna, to 30 days in the county jail after the man pleaded guilty to an amended misdemeanor theft charge.

Krause was freed from custody after the Circuit Court appearance because Judge Parnell credited him with the 30 days he has been in custody in lieu of posting $2,000 bond set by County Judge Gustave J. Keller before whom a preliminary hearing had been held last month.

Charged with Theft

Krause had been charged, following investigation by Kaukauna police, with the theft of about $700 in coins Aug. 7 from the rooming house where he lived. The coins belonged to Harold Eckert.

Krause pleaded innocent of the felony theft charge when he was arraigned in Circuit Court Aug. 23. He had admitted taking $57.50 in half dollars, but denied taking the other $650. The $57.50 was recovered in Krause's room, Kaukauna police said.

In asking for the amended charge, Richard Hamilton, assistant district attorney, said that after further investigation "we felt we couldn't definitely establish the amount stolen to be in excess of $100 (any amount over $100 constitutes a felony theft count)."

Dazed Victim Ends Up in Lady's Lap

'Batman' Scores in City Hall

Who said you can't beat City Hall?

An adventurous bat pulled the coup Wednesday night and succeeded where many humans have failed.

The unwelcome, winged caller disrupted the city council meeting shortly after 7:30 p.m. and sent some aldermen and public officials fleeing from the room.

Routine business was being conducted on a street assessment hearing when the bat started circling the council chambers.

Call Recess

At times it took off on a nose-dive course in the direction of spectators and prompted Mayor George Buckley to declare some sort of a state of emergency.

It resulted in a five-minute recess so someone could remove the intruder.

However, the bat had other ideas and failed to heed the mayor's "proclamation" to leave the chambers.

"Get rid of the bat!" was the battle cry but there were few volunteers.

Someone mentioned the city clerk be authorized to have the bat removed from the room, prompting Clerk Elden Broehm to exclaim, "I want nothing to do with it."

He wasn't alone as several city officials gathered in the conference room adjoining the council chambers.

Batman to Rescue

However, it took a spectator to rise to the occasion. Andrew "Mandy" McGuggan, Menasha, representing

Eugene Erickson, 35, displays the bandaged left hand he burned Wednesday when he helped rip flaming coveralls from Arnold Ruppier, 50, route 1, Brillion, who was burned when a spark from his torch set his clothing ablaze as he worked at the Outagamie County Airport. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Brillion Man Burned

Flaming Clothing Torn From Welder

Quick thinking by a fellow flame, Erickson who lives in Little Chute while he is working of a 50-year-old Brillion welder here, was the only worker near and father of 13, whose clothing Ruppier. He helped the man rip caught fire when he was working off his burning clothing, then summoned other workmen. Ask Ruppier appeared to be in great pain, Erickson said. If he was he did a good job of not showing it.

A Winnebago County squad car provided an escort to St. Elizabeth Hospital. A spokesman for Fox Valley Construction Co. said this morning Ruppier may be released from the hospital Friday although it was not known when he would return to work.

Eugene Erickson, 35, Kewanee, Wis., suffered minor burns to his left hand when he helped rip off Ruppier's burning coveralls.

Erickson, who has been working for the Appleton construction firm for about one month, was back at work today. The firm is doing paving work on the new runway at the airport.

Wife in Hospital

Both men were taken by private vehicle to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Erickson was released after treatment but Ruppier was transferred to the Kaukauna Hospital where he had taken his wife Tuesday night when she suffered severe abdominal pains. Mrs. Ruppier is still in the hospital. They have 13 children. 11 of them at home.

Erickson told The Post-Crescent he was working about five feet from Ruppier, who was welding on a large water tank used in the paving work.

Ruppier's coveralls suddenly burst into "spotty patches" of Judge Determines Youth Guilty of Reckless Driving

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller this morning found a 15-year-old Appleton youth guilty of reckless driving and fined him $100 and costs or 90 days in jail.

In addition, Judge Keller restricted Richard L. Chudy's drivers' license for 30 days. Chudy, of 2 Garden Court, can drive only to and from work.

Appleton police had charged Chudy with driving while under the influence of intoxicants following an accident in the 200 block of N. Oneida Street early the morning of Sept. 25, 1966. However, Judge Keller found that the city had not met its burden of proof on the original charge.

Chudy was waived from juvenile court jurisdiction and had pleaded innocent last Oct. 7. Trial had been postponed several times.

Carl Loehning something special to remember their visit by. Below are the five girls before they started their 4,000 mile trek. From left aboard their tow rig houseboat, the "Miss Sunshine," are Linda and Cathy Austin, Mary Fraas, Alice Roberts and Pat Markus.

Touch Land in Menasha

Marathon Waterski Trek Ends

MENASHA — Three remaining members of a five-girl water ski group touched land yesterday for the 12nd time at the Menasha Elks Club dock after a 4,000 mile trip that started in St. Petersburg, Fla., included a performance at Expo '67 in Montreal, and ended in Oshkosh last night.

Two of the girls, 12-year-old Cathy Austin and 15-year-old Linda Austin, left the group after visiting in Ottawa to go back to school and to treat a severe case of blisters contracted by Linda, who skied the entire 2,500 mile trip to Ottawa.

The remaining girls, Mary Fraas, Alice Roberts and Pat Markus, continued their visit to the Midwest.

Their trip began Aug. 9 from St. Petersburg and came to an end in Oshkosh for a press meeting of the Kieckhefer Corporation for the introduction of their 1968 boating line. The girls stopped for visits or water shows in 11 states and Canada.

The original trip was planned to go only as far as Ottawa, a 2,500 mile trip.

Two at a time, the girls skied behind the 40 foot houseboat to Ottawa. For the rest of their 4,000 miles, they were generally unable to ski, due to reduced speeds necessary when passing through the many inland locks. Other deterrents included the unaccustomed pollution of the inland waters, like the Fox River, and cold water temperatures that the girls weren't used to.

The expedition was the brainchild of Jim Gray of the St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce and was planned as a salute to Canada's 100 year history. It was sponsored by the City of St. Petersburg, the St. Petersburg Area Chamber of Commerce and the State of Florida, and was meant to bring Florida sunshine and goodwill northward.

Police Warn of Fraudulent Spray Painting Contractors

Appleton police issued a warning today that fraudulent spray painting contractors may move into the Fox Valley area.

Residents be cautious when approached by contractors, who from the state attorney seem to be of suspicious character, general's office calling attention to a group of men that spray roofs with aluminum paint, charging about $200 per job. The men guarantee that the job will last eight to 10 years, but police were told that the material the men use in no way seals the roof nor does the job in any way meet the claim the men use.

The men, reportedly of varying ages, travel about the state in a new, green pickup truck.

Teletype Message

Today Appleton police received a teletype message sent statewide by Langlade County officials, calling attention to a group of spray painters that had been "camped" in Langlade County. Authorities there warned that the men were believed to be "victimizing farmers and citizens in nearby counties."

$100,000 Put Into Budget For Ninth Street Bridge

OSHKOSH — The special man said the state highway bridge committee, meeting in the court house Wednesday afternoon following a visit in Madison with members of the state highway commission, voted to put $100,000 in the 1968 county budget to get a start on the Ninth Street bridge.

The money will go toward engineering and appraisal fees and the acquisition of open land at the approaches and interchanges of the proposed southern bridge of the Tri-County Expressway.

The only dissenting vote came from Supv. Robert S. Wertsch, Oshkosh. Wertsch had been added to the special committee, which is comprised of county highway committeemen, plus Supv. Roland Kamp, two months ago.

Kampo Motion

Kampo, who has pushed for an early commitment for a bridge over Little Lake Butte des Morts, introduced the motion to set aside the $100,000 for the first steps when the group returned to Oshkosh later in the afternoon. His motion was seconded by Supv. Clarence E. Loehning, Neenah.

The bridge committee had met with state highway officials to determine if the state had plans for re-routing highways over the lake in the expressway plans.

Kampo said today the state officials wouldn't say which bridge would have higher priority and added that both bridges would be needed.

The Town of Menasha chairmen said the state highway commissioners indicated the interchange on the Ninth Street bridge site wouldn't be considered part of the Long Bridge Act to qualify for funds.

Kampo said he felt the state would be interested in re-routing U.S. 10 and State 47 over the northern bridge, while State 114 would probably go over the Ninth Street structure. However, he noted the state officials would give no commitments to the re-routing.

The bridge committee decided the Ninth Street bridge should have priority and when the group returned to Oshkosh, the members voted to put $100,000 in

Service Cuts Center Rolls

MENASHA — Military manpower requirements are affecting fall enrollment at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Earlier estimates put this fall's registration at an all-time high of 675, but today Henry Spille, Center adviser to students, said the total would be nearer to 650 when classes start Sept. 18. Last fall 647 began freshman-sophomore classes at the Menasha campus.

"We've had a number of students who were pre-registered for this fall inform us that they have been called to active military duty," Spille said. "We've also had reservists, who were pre-registered, tell us that they have been called up and will not attend school this fall."

Besides those who were formally pre-registered, there are probably others who intended to enroll but who have now been called into service, Spille said.

He said he did not believe that a slightly smaller enrollment than anticipated would mean cuts in either activities or classes.

Firearms Banned On Town Eastside

MENASHA — With the fall hunting season approaching, Town of Menasha Constable Robert Weyenberg reminds townsmen of the ordinance banning firearms on the east side of the lake.

Weyenberg said all shooting, including air rifles and bows, is forbidden on the east side of town although firearms, except for rifles, were allowed in non-posted areas on the west side of Little Lake Butte des Morts.

The constable noted bicycle registration had climbed to 1,100. License plates, which are mandatory for town cyclists, are available at the town offices from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Aldermen Duck City Manager Issue at Neenah

Council Evades Committee Request For Special Election

NEENAH — Council members ducked public pressure and dodged calling a special election on the city manager and four-year mayor questions Wednesday evening.

Faced with the certification of petitions on the manager proposal and a public request for a special election this November to settle the two issues, aldermen refused to react publicly and then closed off any possible discussion by quickly adjourning.

Whether the special election will again be broached at the next council meeting is unknown. Ald. Peter Fara, Third Ward, said he didn't know if the issue would be revived.

Surprised

Ald. Lester Herzfeldt, Sixth Ward, said he was surprised when the meeting adjourned so quickly. He said he had expected a long discussion on the issues. The council turned down a matter."

special election move by Ald. Thomas Ryan, Second Ward, at the Aug. 16 session by a 7-3 vote. However, this vote was only on putting the manager question on the fall ballot. Fara attempted to amend the motion to include both the manager and the mayoral term questions on the same election at that meeting, but he withdrew his motion when the manager special election was defeated.

Clerk-Comptroller R. V. Hauser read a prepared statement Wednesday's meeting saying 1,083 of the 1,093 petitions were valid and were sufficient to call a referendum.

Placed on File

The council voted to accept the report and place it on file. Richard Widmann, a member of the Citizens for City Manager (CCM) urged a special election this November in a statement backed by the CCM shortly before the end of the meeting.

The aldermen voted to accept the communication and then placed it on file. There was no further public mention of the governmental issues as the council went into executive session to discuss upcoming negotiations with the police department.

This morning, Widmann, speaking for the group, said, "We regret that the council did not see fit to consider the

These preposterously elegant 1967 Sylvania Stereo and Color TV Consoles (abounding with all kinds of electronic gizmos) are the most. They're so loaded with luxury that it takes at least 3 healthy men to carry one. So grandiose that they're taking up a lot of space we need for the new Sylvania line for '68. (Which includes a lot of little low-priced models for the needy.)

So something has to give. What gives is the prices. We lowered the prices so much that now almost any run-of-the-mill rich guy can afford one.

It's a great opportunity to save a lot of money, if you can afford to.

13 Acres Slated For Addition to Sunset Park Area

KIMBERLY — Authorization for Village President Edward Spiering and Village Clerk Gerald C. Loey to sign an option to purchase about 13 acres of land for an addition to Sunset Park was given at the Tuesday meeting of the village board.

The land is owned by the Van Daalwyk Land Corp., and the village will have one year to exercise the option.

Proposals have been made for the development of a community lake to serve as a swimming area, but land purchase and lake development will not be undertaken until investigation is made of the availability of federal recreation funds.

Assessment Changes

In other action, the board approved changes in assessment rates for various public works projects. They are not expected to have much effect because the new regulations require land developers to have all improvements completed before new plats are developed.

Assessment changes include: from $2 to $3 per lineal foot for sanitary sewer installation; from $2 to $2.50 for water main installation; from $1.50 to $2.50 per foot for grading and graveling of new streets; and from $100 to $135 for sewer tap charges.

Other Action

In other action, the board:

—Held credit for sewer and water installation on corner lots at one-third cost, not to exceed 60 feet.

—Granted a $20 per month pay increase for the assessor, effective Sept. 11, after a 90-day probationary period.

—Accepted the low bid of Joseph Van Daalwyk Construction Co. of $7,320 for installation of sewer and water utilities to the shopping center under development, to be financed from a special assessment on shopping center owners. The only other bid was for $7,654.

—Authorized Sgt. Donald Schmeck to attend a juvenile officers' convention at Madison Oct. 18 to 20.

—Authorized village board

Mr. Steak Restaurant Sets Grand Opening

Mr. Steak Family Restaurant, at S. Oneida Street and Midway Road, will celebrate its grand opening Sept. 12-15. Special sou-venirs and prizes will be given away.

Edmund Burke and William J. Coyne of Appleton are owners and operators. While the restaurant has been operating for the last two months, the grand opening was delayed until parking lot paving was completed.

Applicants to Apply For Water Commission

KIMBERLY — The term of Harry Van Himbergen on the water commission expires Oct. 2 and applications for appointment to the commission will be accepted until that date by Mrs. Katherine Lochschmidt, clerk-treasurer.

The village board will review applicants before selecting a commission member. The term of office is for three years.

KAUKAUNA — New teachers in the school system will be honored at a dinner at the Elks Clubrooms at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday with Rotary Club members serving as hosts.

Special guests will be Julian Biehler, superintendent of schools; Walter Schmidt, high school principal, and Jerome Kroll, assistant principal.

Plan Seminar On Real Estate

Fox Valley Center Sets Tax Planning, Related Areas Study

A three-day seminar on real estate taxes and investments will begin at 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 15, at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center. Designed for real estate brokers, salesmen and investors, the course will cover tax planning and related areas of investment analysis.

Tax considerations are often the most important part of a real estate transaction, according to R. C. Markwardt of the University Extension Real Estate Department, which is sponsoring the program.

Three Experts

Three experts in real estate will be conducting the seminar. They are:

John Hoppe Jr. SRA, who holds a master's degree from UW in real estate investment analysis and has taught at UW, Chicago City College, the University of Alaska and Northwestern. He is currently with Larsen and Hoppe Real Estate, Inc., of Oak Park, Ill.

John Peterson III, who holds both a bachelor's and master's degree from UW in finance and real estate and is associated with the Inland Investment Co., Madison.

Daniel Bartz, MAI, who holds a degree in real estate from Marquette University and is vice president of Mortgage Associates, Inc., of Milwaukee. He has also been an appraiser with New York Life Insurance Co.

Investor Return

The first day of the seminar will deal with investor return, appreciation, tax factors and forms of ownership. Elements of property analysis, which include location and physical factors, rental market, expense analysis and projection of returns, will also be covered.

The second session, on Sept. 22, will cover leverage, risk analysis, sources of funds, sale and leaseback, income versus capital gain, depreciation methods, sale of property and taxes and forms of ownership and taxes will also be studied.

The final session on Sept. 29 will concern investment mathematics of evaluation, capitalization of income and introduction and use of Ellwood tables.

Seminar enrollment is limited to 30. The total cost is $95 and will include all session materials, luncheons and a graduation banquet.

Mobile X-Ray Units Are Generally Reliable

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: How dependable are these mobile units that come around taking chest X-rays? Can you depend on the X-rays being read right? I am speaking of the units sponsored by the tuberculosis association — N.R.

Very dependable, within the limits that they undertake to accomplish. The equipment is reliable and so are the people operating it, but all they are attempting to do is screen people for any sign that needs further investigation. A small-size 70 millimeter film is used for the sake of economy, but it is big enough to show any condition of serious dimensions.

When the X-ray shows a normal-appearing chest, that's the end of things. If there is anything suspicious, then your doctor is notified and as a rule will want large-size (14 x 17 inch) X-rays.

The mobile units do not attempt to decide whether you do or do not have tuberculosis, lung cancer or any other disease. They merely undertake to tell you (or rather your doctor) that some abnormality appears to exist. They may, for example, say that the ray indicates some heart enlargement — which may or may not warrant any alarm. Thus some people receive a notice to go to the doctor but presently learn that nothing serious is wrong. The mobile unit people think it is better to be on the safe side rather than be sorry later. So do I.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a urinalysis reveals a two-plus protein count and some red blood cells, what does it indicate in a 48-year old male in apparent general good physical condition? — R.G.

This combination can mean several things. It could be trouble in the kidney itself — some form of nephritis. Irritation anywhere along the urinary tract can produce bleeding and hence red blood cells, and the blood cells alone can produce a positive protein (albumin) test. Irritants could be stones, bladder ulcers, polyps.

The conditions responsible for albumin and red cells in the urine may be so subtle or so early as not to cause you to feel ill.

Nonetheless, an evaluation of bladder and kidneys should be made, and may nip serious trouble in the bud. You would benefit by reading my booklet, "Your Kidneys: Facts You Need to Know About Them." Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of this newspaper, for a copy.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have bad varicose veins. I read in a book about folk medicine that you should bathe them night and morning with apple cider vinegar and drink a glass of water twice a day with two teaspoons of cider vinegar, and in a month the veins should be gone. I have tried it faithfully and no results. Is this really a cure? — Mrs. E. T.

No, it's not a cure nor is there the faintest scientific reason why it should be. This cider vinegar nonsense — and it is utter nonsense — has caused no end of trouble, but the fiction has been so widely spread that a great many people believe there must be something to it. Until giving the answer: There is no they try it. I still get inquiries more value, to your health, in almost every day, and I keep on this sort of thing than in the Note to G.B.: Yes, bagginess or puffiness under the eyes, if not due to some health defect, can be effectively corrected by a plastic surgeon. It is not a risky procedure.

"I must be getting stronger! I can carry $10 worth of groceries and not even breathe hard!"

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Local Officials to Explore Emergencies

MADISON (AP) — A two-day meeting of city and county officials to acquaint them with responsibilities of local government in event of emergencies will open in Wisconsin Delis Thursday.

Theme of the session will be "command and control at the local level." Bruce Bishop, State Bureau of Civil defense administrator, said.

Briefings by state and federal officials, workshops and panel discussions will make up the agenda.

Gives Up Boating For Barbecue

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP) — Businessman Charles Woods, a former Alabama gubernatorial candidate, says he's giving up Labor Day outings on his yacht. And he has reason.

Last year on Labor Day, he and his family went boating in the Gulf of Mexico. The boat caught fire and exploded, injuring Woods and his two sons. The boat was destroyed.

Monday, the family was on the Gulf again in a new yacht. A fire broke out in the engine room. This time, with the help of the Coast Guard, it was extinguished safely.

"Next year," said Woods, "We'll have a barbecue in the back yard."

Spring Into Bloom

Memory Gardens Hold Seeds of Person's Past

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the best of all gardens. Therein, winter and summer, the seeds of the past lie dormant, ready to spring into instant bloom at any moment the mind wishes to bring them to life again.

Protected from the buffeting of new snows and fresh rains, those timeless flowers dwell serenely in the fair weather of the soul. Only the killing frost of death itself can tumble their unforgettable beauty.

How fares your own inside garden? It is well stocked with flowers—and perhaps a few thistles, too—if you can look back and remember when—

Before Hippies
In the days before hippies, only children went barefoot along city streets.

One of the biggest problems in juvenile delinquency was keeping kids from raiding watermelon patches at night. The kids each year than automobile accidents thought the watermelons were guarded by irate farmers carrying shotguns loaded with Skidoo.

Before Hippies
Hair dyes were so awful that you could tell at a glance whether a blonde was real or a prod-uct of the local drugstore—a “henna blonde.”

Only chemists had heard of plastics.

When you went for a Sunday drive, the children in the back seat made a game of counting the number of white horses they saw on the farms. Now they could ride all day and never see a one.

Bluebirds—a lovely sight—seemed almost as common in the country as pigeons in the city. Today many a person old enough to vote has never seen a bluebird in his life.

There were more American homes with outdoor plumbing than indoor plumbing.

If you were too sophisticated to believe that the stork brought babies, you were told either that they grew in cabbage patches or that the doctor found them on tree stumps in the woods.

In most U.S. business offices the secretaries neatly pinned papers together instead of using paper clips.

Falling elevators and running kids from raiding watermelon patches at night. The kids each year than automobile accidents thought the watermelons were guarded by irate farmers carrying shotguns loaded with Skidoo.

Bashful lads in the prairie states dreamed of growing up and going to sea because, it was thought, “sailors have girls in every port.”

If a fellow lost his buttonhook, he couldn't put on his shoes properly in the morning.

A big front porch was an essential of any home that held a large family, because where else could two older daughters be courted without starting neighborhood gossip?

Children believed that if they were brave enough to throw the boogeyman would get them. The boogeyman was sometimes thought to dwell at the bottom of the backyard well, and during daylight hours some kids were brave enough to throw small stones down the well to torment him.

When you didn't want to eat your lumpy, clotted oatmeal, mother always said, “Think of how many millions of starving children in China would be glad to have that for breakfast!” And all you wanted to find was an easy way to send it to them.

No minister felt his Sunday sermon was up to snuff unless it contained a denunciation of the devil and a vivid description of the everlasting pangs of hellfire. When he leaned back in his pulpit, exhausted, you could almost smell sulphur fumes in the church.

If people wanted something but couldn't pay cash for it, they did without it rather than go into debt.

Those were the days. Remember?

Appleton Asks County Reply on Avenue Funds

Appleton's city council official-ly acted last night in an effort to get action from Outagamie County on the $100,000 members of the county board's executive and highway committees had verbally committed as the county's share of the College Avenue reconstruction project.

The council directed that a certified letter be sent to County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer so the city's request can be brought before the county board at its next meeting.

Last Monday Appleton's street sanitation committee made a request on the status of the allocation via a letter from Mayor George Buckley to Sylvester Esler, chairman of the County Board. Tuesday the Appleton board of public works voted to send a copy of the resolution adopted in June direct to the county clerk.

that it was in need of expansion regardless of which source was ultimately used.

The letter further notes that the commission again notified city officials in May 1966 that the water facility improvement project was in accord with the commission's planning programs.

The letter states that the council resolved earlier this year to undertake a complete regional comprehensive water and sewer urban area wide planning program to update, expand and refine the water and sewer report prepared for the Regional Planning Commission in 1960 and to satisfy urban area wide planning requirements specified in the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965.

Consultants are presently being considered for recommendations to undertake the engineering element of this program.

Costs for the program will be included in the council's budget for 1968 the letter states.

Fight Costs Fond du Lac Man $75

An argument and ensuing fist fight over the change due him from the purchase of a bottle of beer cost a Fond du Lac man $75 and costs of $6 days in the county jail this morning.

Gerald A. Schaeffer, 24, arrested about 10 p.m. Wednesday by Appleton police, pleaded guilty this morning to charges of disorderly conduct and public intoxication. Judge Gustave J. Keller fined him $50 and costs for disorderly conduct and $25 and costs on the other charge.

Police said the argument began in The Winsthaus, 321 E. College Ave. and the fight occurred at the nearby corner of College and Durkee where the tavern proprietor went to use a police telephone to summon authorities.

Schaeffer reportedly came out of the tavern and struck Roger Gruska in the mouth. Gruska then struck Schaeffer, reportedly knocking him down. Gruska then finished his call to police. Patrolmen said that when they arrived at College and Durkee, Gruska was holding Schaeffer down by putting his foot on the Fond du Lac man's shoulder.

Schaeffer became belligerent and called police names. He was handcuffed and taken to the police station where he continued being unruly.

Three Receive Minor Injuries in Pair of Appleton Accidents

Three persons suffered minor injuries in two accidents in Appleton Wednesday.

Injured when their cars collided at Atlantic and Drew Streets about 6:30 p.m. were Frank A. Napieralla, 45, 510 W. Seventh St., Kaukauna, who had a bruised left hip and leg and a bump on the head, and Robert E. Corey, 26, 809 N. Drew St., who suffered a leg injury.

Police said Napieralla was westbound on Atlantic and Corey was northbound on Drew. Napieralla was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way.

Mrs. Norman Kohl, 1748 N. Charlotte St., suffered neck and back injuries about 11:55 p.m. Wednesday when her husband's car and one driven by James H. Ullmer, 21, 133 S. Washington St., DePere, collided at Richmond Street and Glendale Avenue.

Police said that Kohl was stopped signaling for a left turn, when his car was struck in the rear by the Ullmer auto. Both cars were southbound on Richmond.

Man Denies Pair Of Motoring Charges

Timothy J. Lot, Sept. 25 for improper use of vehicle 37, 3000 W. Wisconsin Ave., who this morning pleaded innocent of driving after his license was revoked and driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller set bonds totaling $150. Givette was arrested Wednesday by Lattie Chute police.

James Hemmen, left, former president of the Frank Harwood Y's Men's Club of Appleton, presented a $380 check on behalf of the club to Dr. Gilbert Mueller of the YMCA board of directors Wednesday night to pay for 11 camp scholarships to YMCA resident and day camps. The money is part of contributions made by the club to support about 35 such scholarships. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Buckley's 'No' Vote Clouds Bridge Plans

he wanted assurance the church property would be needed for the future bridge construction and received it from City Planner Walter Rasmussen.

Responding to a direct question Rasmussen declared, "Yes, we need the property for the bridge and approaches."

Rasmussen also said there was the danger that if the city did not obtain the church property now, it might be sold to another congregation.

This could become an extremely embarrassing situation in the future when the city should decide to buy the property and would be forced to relocate (condemn) a church. Rasmussen advised.

The property is bounded by Oneida and Lawrence streets and the municipal parking lot. It consists of 19,866 square feet.

When questions were raised about the price, Green said he felt it was an offer to both the city and church. He said the price tags on other properties in the immediate area.

City Assessor John Fietz told the council the price for the church property is a dollar per foot cost in the area.

Ald. Glenn Thompson (D-1) said he would favor buying the church, but he would not make the bridge the city's "No. 1 priority," adding there were other projects more pressing.

The people want a referendum, declared Ald. Al Stegbauer (D-1). We are being talked into buying a church for a new bridge.

Terms of the congregation's offer to the city called for a $1,000 down payment with 10 city taking possession of the property in November 1968. The city would have through 1973 to pay off the balance in five equal installments.

Next Wednesday the council will hold a special meeting to discuss the five-year capital improvement program. Undertaking a bridge study at a cost of about $35,000 will then be considered.

Several months ago the council's street sanitation committee urged the bridge study should be started but the matter was tabled.

'Cimarron', Exciting New Western

BY TV SCORE 1

6-30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — Cimarron Strip, the highest budgeted series on TV, stars Stuart Whitman as Marshal Jim Crown with Randy Boone and Percy Herbert as his deputies and Bill Townsend as the girl who runs the hotel where Crown lives and also works. Part of the lobby is the jail. Its set during the period when the Cherokee Outlet was a "no man's land" while the government decided whether or not to open the land to settlers. The premise show is a well done classic Western saga with some excellent scenery and photography and strong performance from Whitman and John Saxon. (C Premier)

9-9-30 (Channels 11-9) — Good Company is a kind of Peep on Person with attorney Lee Bailey as the interviewer. The difference between this show and the old one, Bailey goes to visit the guest in their homes.

Leading off Tony Curtis very much the square of his Beverly Hills mansion as he shows his ex-wife one of their two children, his collection of art and the boxes he makes. (C Premier)

6-30-7-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Flying Nun, which leads off with an hour long episode, will normally be a 30 minute series. Sally Field, who is totally delightful, is Sister Bertrille, a 90 pound novice at the Convent San Lances in Puerto Rico. Because of the shape of her corset and the high winds and a law of aerodynamics that has to do with lift plus thrust, she can fly, just like Peter Pan and Mary Poppins. (C Premier)

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — The Dean Martin Summer Show Starting Your Host Vic Damone departs after this offering which highlights the comedy team of Alan and Vic Mahon showing how Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs would be done in France in England and by Tennessee Williams. The New Vaudeville Band doing Winchester Cathedral and Dean Martin in dropping in to chat with Vic Carol Lawrence and Gail Martin add more luster to their names and George Jessel tells stories. (C)

7-30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — Bewitched returns with an episode which takes full advantage of the show's premise. Seems the Queen of the Witches is getting on in years and it's time to crown a successor, none other than Elizabeth Montgomery.

8-8-30 (Channels 11-6-9) — That Girl returns for a second season with Marlo Thomas as bright and peppy as ever. The would-be actress gets a part in a revival starring ETHEL MERMAN. And that's exactly how Marlo thinks of her in big tongue-tied capitol letters. But the time comes when with the help of boy friend Ted Bessell she discovers Ethel is a very human being who can cook a meal in stuffed cabbage even if she does use too much pepper. (C Premier) chairman and Frank Keuler, public works director.

Myse frequently has appeared before the commission representing clients in rezoning matters.

In addition Myse is legal counsel and negotiator for Appleton teachers, the Appleton Professional Policemen's Protective Association and the Appleton Firemen's union.

Other appointments approved included William R. Wenzel and Roy Winter to the board of hearing examiners.

Re-elected to another term on the Appleton Water Commission was Peter DeLain, a veteran menber.

The council also voted to charge the Appleton Public School District the cost for operating and maintaining school crossing guards. The action would result in towns attached to the district paying 10 per cent of the expense.

Placed in the five-year capital improvement program: a northwest fire station $200,000; replacement of an aerial truck $50,000 to $60,000; and purchase of other new fire fighting equipment at a cost of $100,000.

Voted to increase meter rates on College Avenue to 10 cents per hour from Drew to Durkee streets and Walnut Street to Memorial Drive for a uniform business district rate.

Authorized Public Works Director Frank Keuler to attend the American Public Works Association Congress and equipment show in Boston, Oct. 1 to 5.

Heard objections to a proposed 10-foot setback policy for Oneida, Lawrence and Franklin streets and referred the matter back to the plan commission.

Blaze Damages Lawrence Foreign Study Center

A fire estimated by German authorities to have caused about $2,500 damage took place recently in a portion of Schloss Boeninghheim near Stuttgart in which Lawrence University is conducting its first overseas study center.

According to a report sent back to the campus by Dean Francis I. Broderick, the fire took place in the Cavaliersbau, a separate building within the castle walls which is used as a dormitory by the men students in the Lawrence program.

Among the 40 Lawrence students participating in the first study program at the center are Walter Brown, 609 N. Lave St., Friedemann Meyer, 1230 E. Peirshing St. and Marilee Zehr, 1831 N. Eugene St.

Audibility Not 'High' Point of Appleton City Council Session

Members of the Appleton City Council don't get through to their audiences at council meetings.

The reason: No one can hear the aldermen.

The $3,500 public address system which has worked off and on for several months was in the off cycle again Wednesday night.

People in the audience several times asked aldermen to use their desk microphones when they had something to say.

Aldermen replied it was no use — the mikes were on the blink again.

As the meeting continued the defective PA system became a general source of consternation, prompting the council to order it fixed or taken out.

Either we get this sound system adjusted or admit we got stuck and throw it out, declared Ald. Glenn Thompson (D-1B).

A reporter briefly sat in the audience with an estimated 75 onlookers. He could not hear the comment of the aldermen and returned to the press table in front of the mayor's room.

Xaxier in Home Debut Against Rhinelander

Appleton Xavier's 1967 football yards rushing and added 42 Hawks will make the first of more on six pacs receptions their five home appearances. Xavier completed 10 of 18 Friday night when they meet passes, with Steinhorst doing Rhinelander High School. Kick-off time at Goodland Field, set for 8 p.m.

The Hawks, who showed, last Saturday, that they have another team in the Xavier tradition, will use the Rhinelander game as the final tune-up for the defense of their Fox Valley Catholic Conference championship.

Xavier last year, beat Rhinelander 15-7, for their second straight win over the Hodags after a 6-0 loss in 1964. Rhinelander won its 1967 opener, 12-6, over Lakeland of Minocqua in a non-conference outing.

Coach Gene (Toich) Clark's Hawks, who have won seven straight games and 17 of their last 18, opened last week with a 13-7 win over Wisconsin Rapids. Assumption in a bruising battle between of the leading parochial school powers in the state.

Xavier outgained Assumption 208 yards to 115 and posted a 10-6 edge in first downs. The Hawk pass defense was outstanding as it held the Royals to two completions in 14 attempts and intercepted three aerials.

Scores Twice

Halfback Brad Graff scored both touchdowns for the Hawks. He hauled in a 18-yard pass from quarterback Greg Steinhorst with three defenders around him in the end zone. And Graff returned a punt 68 yards for the go-ahead score in the late period. Graff amassed 99

Robert's Has Experience at Each Position

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Lawrence University's football Vikings found winning a 1966 championship to be such an enjoyable experience that they'd like to come up with an encore. There's nothing wrong with winning another one, was Coach Ron Roberts' deliberately under-played response to a query about 1967 Viking ambitions.

The Vikings are defending champions for the first time in 15 years but the unfamiliar, heady role isn't putting them out of touch with reality. If anything, the letterman-heavy Lawrence squad is more eager and more determined than last year.

Robert's hasn't dropped the mantle of optimism that he has worn since taking over as head coach in 1965 — and, in view of the results, there is no reason why he should. The Vikes posted a 5-3 record in '65 and were in title contention until the final day of the season. Last year, Lawrence achieved a 7-1 mark to share the Midwest Conference title with Ripon and St. Olaf.

Could Be Better

Robert's frankly feels the Vikes could have a better team than they did last year. Lawrence is blessed with experience at every position, while last year players manning several spots — such as defensive end — were inexperienced at the start of the campaign.

In opening official practice Wednesday, Robert's said he's not pointing his team for any

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay will win the West. Who else? The Packers already have installed an electric heating system to warm the field for the Dec. 31 title game.

The Packers, convinced both the NFL and the AFL last season when they added the Super Bowl to their triumphs in the National Football League.

Green Bay's opponent on New Year's Eve probably will be Dallas. Before that game they must dispose of the Los Angeles Rams, who are the pick here to take the Coastal Division of the West.

It looks like a big season for the snow boot and parka set. Green Bay winds up its regular season at home Dec. 19. If they win the Central Division as expected they play the Coastal in preseason convinced many winner at Green Bay Sat. Dec. 23. If they win that they play the

AL Thrown Into Virtual 4-Way Tie

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place in the American League is like a can of sardines. On purpose or not the Tigers telephoned booth holding 84 college students—crowded Minnesota, Chicago, Detroit 8-5 and 6-3, the White Sox and Boston all squeezed into the spot Wednesday night in a virtual four-way tie which left Sox made it by not playing, and baseball buffs scratching their heads to recall a similar jam so late in the season.

It took a crowbar to get a percentage point between the four clubs as the Twins and White Sox each sported 78-61 records for a .561 percentage and the Tigers counted on Cleveland to help.

Patriots, Terrors Ready East, West Squads Will Be Underdogs in FRVC Openers This Weekend

Friday and Saturday, there's a chance for two Appleton public high school football victories to be recorded on the same weekend for the first time in history.

This phenomenon, made possible by the 1967-68 split of Appleton High School, could occur if East's Patriots defeat Manitowoc Friday night and West's Terrors take Green Bay Saturday.

The odds are stacked against such an occurrence, though, because both the Appleton schools rely heavily on passing in an effort to Appleton contingents will be shake up their favored opponents.

The Claude Radtke-coached Patriots make their first start in history at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Manitowoc against the defending champion Ships. The Ships have frequently in recent years with both tradition, they dominated such accomplished pitchers as the FRVC in almost every sport last school year.

Long-Time Rivals Battle Saturday Little Chute, Kimberly to Clash

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — It may be a time-worn cliché to say anything can happen, but that pretty well sums up the possibilities of making a prediction about the outcome of Saturday afternoon's football clash between rivals Little Chute St. John and Kimberly High School.

The Dutchmen and Papermakers will take to American Legion Field here at 2 p.m. in a non-conference tilt.

For Kimberly it will be a first game of the young season while the Chuters will be making lot of boys.

Briles Hurls Sixth Straight Win as Cardinals Tip Mets

Giants' Perry, Phils' Bunning Notch Shutouts; LA Whips Cubs

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

When a line drive fractured Briles' right leg two months ago, the St. Louis Cardinals' pennant hopes appeared certain to crack at the seams.

Then Nelson Briles threw his right arm into the breach, and never let go.

Now Gibson's ready to put his best foot forward again, but there's no relief in sight for Briles.

Briles, an unheralded member of the bullpen brigade until July 15, when Gibson was felled by a Roberto Clemente liner, rolled to his sixth straight victory Wednesday night, scattering five hits as the National League-leading Cardinals trimmed the New York Mets 3-1.

While Briles was limiting the Mets to an unearned run, San Francisco's Gaylord Perry and Philadelphia's Jim Bunning were throwing blanks at Houston and Cincinnati, respectively.

Perry beat the Astros 2-0 with a three-hitter, running his scoreless streak to 34 innings.

Bunning flipped a six-hitter in stopping the Reds 9-0 for the 38th shutout of his career. Los Angeles downed the Chicago Cubs 6-3 and Atlanta split a doubleheader at Pittsburgh, winning the opener 4-1 and dropping the nightcap by the same score.

Briles, a stocky right-hander who finished the 1966 season with a 4-15 mark, is 11-5 this year with seven victories in nine decisions since he stepped into the starting rotation. He is fifth in pass receiving with 12 has completed three of his last catches for 184 yards.

Four starts and leads St. Louis starters with a sparkling 2.50 sin star Billy Smith of Madison leads the rushers with 312 yards.

The Cards were four games in front when Gibson was hurt, per carry.

They lead the pack by 11 1/2 games today.

scoreless innings in the Giants' 1-0, 21-inning victory over Cincinnati last Friday night and had shut out Los Angeles in his previous start, brought his record to 12-15 by taming the Astros. He also capped the Giants' deciding two-run rally in the seventh inning with a run-scoring single.

Pads Strikeout Lead Bunning, 15-12, added 10 strikeouts to his NL lead and pulled within one shutout of the Dodgers' Don Drysdale, who leads active pitchers with a career total of 39. The Phillies backed the veteran right-hander with a 13-hit attack in thumping Cincinnati ace Jim Maloney.

The Dodgers struck for four runs in the eighth inning to overtake the Cubs. Ron Fairly triggering the rally with a homer and Ron Hunt breaking a 3-3 tie with an RBI single. Bob Bailey and Willie Davis homered for Los Angeles and Ron Santo delivered all the Chicago runs with a homer and single.

Al McBean scattered six hits and knocked in three runs with a triple and bases-loaded walk, leading the Pirates past Atlanta after Denny Lemaster won the opener for the Braves with an eight-hitter.

Chiefs' Cain Tops CSL in Receiving; Smith Best Rusher

MANITOWOC (PG) — Flanker Bob Cain of the Manitowoc Chiefs has retained his pass receiving lead in the Central States League according to statistics released today.

The 5-10, 175-pound Cain has hauled in 18 passes for 242 yards in Manitowoc's three games. A native of Texas, Cain now lives in Kimberly and is a Marine recruiter in Appleton.

Manitowoc's Gregg Zastrow slipped to second place in passing. Lew Flinn of Waukegan now leads the passers with 35 completions in 65 attempts for a 4-15 mark, is 11-5 this year with seven victories in nine decisions since he stepped into the starting rotation.

Tom Hendricks of Manitowoc is fifth in pass receiving with 12 has completed three of his last catches for 184 yards.

Former University of Wisconsin starters with a sparkling 2.50 sin star Billy Smith of Madison leads the rushers with 312 yards.

The Cards were four games in front when Gibson was hurt, per carry.

They lead the pack by 11 1/2 games today.

Steve Wright Restored to Bays' Roster

Spirited Workout Held as Squad Is Sliced to 43 Mark

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers cut six rookies from the squad Wednesday, restored veteran tackle Steve Wright to the roster and held a spirited workout.

The drill was in preparation to winding up their National Football League exhibition series at home Saturday night against the New York Giants.

The cutting of the six reduced the squad to 43, with three more to be taken off the roster before league play starts.

Put On Waiver

Jim Mankins, 235-pound full-back from Florida State, was put on waivers and claimed immediately by the Detroit Lions.

Also getting the ax were two members of last year's taxi squad — Roy Schmidt, 250-pound guard from Long Beach State, and Jeff White, 190-pound flanker from Texas Tech. Both were drafted as futures in 1965.

Other departing players included Dave Dunaway of Duke.

Mike Bass of Michigan in a workout with Bart Starr, a defensive back, and Stan Kemp, also of Michigan, an end and kicking specialist who came to camp as a free agent.

The squad spent considerable time on the aerial game in addition to a dummy scrimmage.

The Packers spent 90 minutes picking up blitzes.

Burdick Bowls 258 Game John DeYoung Slams 669 Classic Series

Lee Burdick and John DeYoung displayed mid-season the Merchants League at the 41 form as the Fox Valley Classic Bowl Wednesday night. Hibbard Bowling League opened the also had a 225 game and Art season at Neenah's Lakewood Stead was runnerup in series with a 604 count.

Burdick socked a 258 game and DeYoung rattled a 669 series to divide the individual honors.

The drill was in preparation to winding up their National Football League exhibition series at home Saturday night against the New York Giants.

The cutting of the six reduced the squad to 43, with three more to be taken off the roster before league play starts.

Talent-Laden Vikings Open Grid Workouts

particular for such as Ripon the only team to meet a Roberts coached Vike unit twice. He is not thinking any further ahead than Sept. 23 if he can't get the Vikes open — on the field — against Coe. The Kohawks are returning to the Lawrence schedule after a 2-year lapse.

Only 33 players in the 1967 44-man roster will be able to make the first trip of the season — which means that candidates are being sought for just as seldom before on the Vike campus.

The team is bulwarked by a solid corps of 18 lettermen who naturally have locks on most of the season-opening starting job.

All-conference performers Gary Hietpas, Chuck McKee and Ken Koskelin head the Vike returnees. Steve Figg and Bob McKee won second team All-MC accolades last year.

The other senior lettermen are Rod Clark, Dennis Kirchhoff, John Biolo, Dave Mielke, Chip Taggart and Dick Witte.

18 Sophs on Squad

Junior lettermen are Mike Andrews, Dennis DeCock, Paul Henningsen, Gar Kellom, Jim Mergott, Dale Schuparra and Mike Oppenheim. The roster is rounded out by two other seniors, six other juniors and promising class of 18 sophomores.

The Vike in string offense have a backfield of 66 will be intact. McKee will be at quarterback with Figg at tailback, Witte at fullback and Mielke on the wing.

The blue-chip Vike defensive team which allowed the fewest points (74) among the 20 small college teams in Wisconsin is deep in returning regulars. The four starting deep backs — Kirchhoff, Koskelin, Biolo and Taggart — have all returned. So have linebacker Hietpas and middle guard Bob McKee.

Leading Prospects

Left end Schuparra and left tackle DeCock also were starters last year, though at different positions. The leading prospects for the other three defensive starting jobs are Andrew, a right tackle, Mergott, at right end, and Oppenheim, at line backer. The 200 pound Andrew has been moved from the offensive backfield to meet the defense.

Chuck McKee, a multi-talented player, scored 66 points last year — third high total in the MC — and has accounted for 146 points in two seasons. In 1966, McKee reeled off 1500 yards last season. The 190 lb. Wednesday with several players included 900 aerial yards on 62 out of one club being picked up completions in 1966. He also averaged 36.6 yards as a punter.

Backing McKee up at the QB, Leagues claim 1 place kicker post are junior Dave Frasn and Booth, 142 lbs, who had been sophomore Tom Richardson on the Clintonville.

Hietpas, the teams place kicking specialist, tied for seventh in league scoring last year with 36 points — which included 21 conversions and three field goals. Figg also added 121 MC scoring with 30 touchdowns and five TD.

SENIORS

JUNIORS

SOPHOMORES

NOTES and NOTIONS

Though the pro and the Joe Assumption will use home opener enthusiasm in Friday to supplement their already demonstrated potency.

Southern Door over Fox Lutheran — With Southern Door having already played a game and the Foxes able to field only six lettermen it may be difficult for FVL to jell soon enough to capture an away from home opener.

St. John over Kimberly — The Chutes' impressive array of returning regulars and 1 game experience edge (having played last weekend) should be enough to turn back the determined Papermakers in a traditional neighborhood classic.

Neenah over Preble — Pride in their No. 1 state rating of 1966 will help provide the incentive for rebuilding Rocket. The Hornets are capable of providing a solid test.

Menasha over Berlin — Any hopes to reverse last year's 13-7 loss, the Bluejays loom ready to start on their way to bigger and better things.

Kaukauna over Pennings — The Ghost could well be M.E. title challengers again and this pre-league tilt again a formidable opponent will give them a chance to get all systems functioning.

Menasha St. Mary over Wausau — The Zephyrs aerial blitz which fanned Oconto Falls last weekend will prove too much for the Indians this week.

Waupaca over Clintonville — The experience gained by the Comets against a tough foe — St. John — might be just enough to provide the difference against the Packers, who are sailing the sea on under a new coach.

New London over Manawa — The Bulldogs have a little too much manpower but the same could be close.

Other FVL games — Oshkosh over Fond du Lac, Oconto Falls over Shiocton, Neshkoro and Sheboygan South over Green Bay Falls.

Little Nine — Dismal as Fulham, Hartsville, Watrous, Winneconne over Oconto, Hubbard over Preville and Wright over Freedom.

MC Conference — Portland over Ashwaubenon and West De Pere over Sevastopol.

Wausau Man Selected As Aide to Pete Rozelle — NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Granholm of Wausau, Wis., has been named administrative assistant to the Commissioner of Professional Football, Pete Rozelle.

Rozelle and Granholm will work out of the league office in New York. He said Granholm's duties will include trouble shooting for the league and working with equipment and safety problems.

Granholm has been equipment manager of the NFL's New York Jets for years.

Pro Grid Shuffling — The football schedule for the coming season will be announced by the National Football League.

Packers, Rams Top Favorites

a wide open scramble. Minnesota appears to have troubles at quarterback now that Fran Tarkenton is gone. Perhaps Bud Grant, the new coach, will find the answer early but the safe thing to do is to give him time to get things together by mid season.

The Vikings were hurt badly by injuries in training camp and still have troubles with the bomb. Quarterback Joe Kaap obtained from the Canadian League could help.

Line Targets — Despite their shocking defeat by Denver in the first NFL-AFL game, Detroit appears to be putting things together. Whether Joe Schmidt finally settles on Karl Sweetan or Milt Plum, the No. 1 quarterback will have fine targets in Pat Studstill, Gail Cogdill and Bill Malinchak.

Much depends on Mel Farr and the injured Nick Eddy, two price taggers. The Lions' defense is getting old together but still can rise to the occasion.

Chicago has many problems aggravated by retirements in juniors and trades. Jack Concannon's low recovery from arm trouble has left the quarterback job unsettled. The one big plus is Gale Sayers, the best game-breaker in pro football.

The new divisional setup should prove a boon to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Baltimore. Who can hinder them for a title without having to contend with Green Bay on a home and home basis. Atlanta is in the same division but hardly rates as a contender despite improvement.

Unitas Is Reason — John Unitas is the reason the Colts are favored in most pre-season polls to beat out the Rams and the Colts always has been able to beat San Francisco by walking out on the field. However, some doubts about Unitas' ability to go all the way this season.

If the Colts despite their rugged defense.

Los Angeles can take it all if Tommy Mason and Dick Bass, by health, has made it in every game last year. Mason, who weighs 150 pounds of tape around his neck, has been a part and parcel at Minnesota for years. George Allen tested both in the exhibition and hopes to get full use in the regular season.

Teasome Tonsome — Roman Gabriel and Bill Munson are capable quarterbacks and they have receivers like Jack Snow, Bernie Casey and Tommy McDonald. Most of all the Rams have that Teasome Tonsome up front on defense.

Lamar Lundy, Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen and Rosey Grier. Grier, however, suffered a leg injury last Friday night in an exhibition game against Kansas City and is expected to be sidelined at least two months.

The Rams are a mixed up club last year are putting big money into the season. The desire is questionable but they can move the ball with John Brodie throwing to Dave Parks and John David Crow and Ken Willard running up the middle.

Baltimore's offense sagged last year when they scored only seven touchdowns rushing. It will be up to the defense to keep them in the game while waiting for Unitas to throw the bomb.

The Falcons have added Tom Moore to help their running game and Randy Johnson should be better with a year under his belt.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Officials of the St. Louis Cardinals are hesitant about counting their World Series tickets before the Birds notch a pennant.

The Cardinals asked Wednesday that fans hold up their ticket requests until procedures for ordering the tickets are announced.

Baseball Commissioner William Eckert already has given the Cardinals permission to print the tickets.

MADISON (AP) — After the Wisconsin football squad held its first full scrimmage Wednesday, Coach John Coatta remarked: "The defense is ahead of the offense. They'd better be."

During the one hour workout the first string offense faced second defensive unit while the second offensive squad tangled with the top defensive group.

The second-string offense could not score.

"I was surprised at the hitting out there," Coatta said. "There were some pretty good collisions. That first defensive unit is pretty solid. They got punched right off the bat but then it was no contest."

Coatta also said there is no question but John Boyajian is my No. 1 quarterback.

John Ryan, who had held that spot, sat on the sidelines nursing a badly bruised shoulder from a recent workout. Boyajian fired a 29 yard touchdown pass to Tom McCauley and scored himself on a sneak. He completed 11 of 17 passes for 141 yards and gained 36 more yards in seven carries.

Coatta had good words for defensive players Don Bliss, Sam Wheeler, Warren Dyer and Leonard Fields.

Lucius Blair, a sophomore linebacker who was booted off the squad for tardiness last week, may transfer to another school.

The 231 pound standout from Houston, Tex., was tossed off the team by Coatta after he failed to show up last Thursday for press photographs.

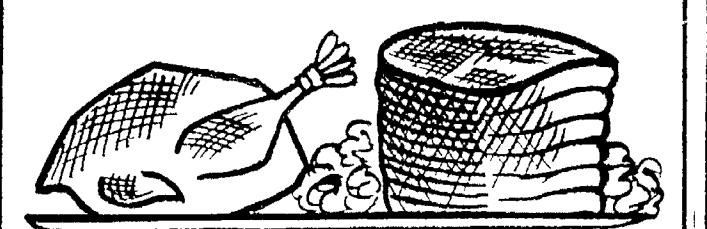

Milt Bruhn, assistant athletic director, said Blair was attempting to contact his father about switching schools. Bruhn said he was certain Blair would receive offers from other schools if he decided to transfer. His current football scholarship at Wisconsin runs until February.

Jurkovic Makes Clintonville Coaching Debut Friday

CLINTONVILLE — Although his 44-man roster lists 12 lettermen, Clintonville's first year coach Chet Jurkovic has only three regulars around whom to build his team.

The regulars include senior captains Paul Hoffman (180) and Stan Steenbock (155) who return to fill both halfback positions and Dennis Schwenke (170) who will man an end spot. Steenbock was a second team all conference selection on defense last year.

The remaining letter winners saw very limited action on a senior dominated squad that posted a 3-5 overall mark and finished 3-4 in Mid-Eastern Conference play last year.

Jurkovic took over the Truckers reins when Tony Ellis, a veteran of more than 25 years of coaching at Clintonville, retired.

Prior to his Clintonville assignment, Jurkovic coached three years at Mineral Point where he had an 11-10-3 record including 4-3 last season.

Sasse to Start

The Truckers will open with a non conference game against Waupaca (13) losers to Little Chute St. John last week.

Eva Jansen Rolls 286 Set In Little Chute Ladies League

Eva Jansen got the bowling season off to a fast start in the Tuesday Ladies League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes, as she cracked a 233 game and a 586 series.

The count was just 14 pins shy of a national honor count and the only other honor score in the circuit was a 195 game and 503 series by Delores Van Gompel.

Elmer Kobs hit a 631 series to lead the way in the Kimberly National League at Jerry's Lanes and Ed Boucher took a share of the honors with a 232 game.

Other top counts included Rog Vanden Heuvel 598, and Jerry Wydeven 551.

Mac Wideman had a 227 game and 556 series to lead the Hit n Miss League at the 41 Bowl.

Runnerup honors went to Shirley Palesh with a 201 game and 505 series while Gail Schmidt had a 195 singleton.

'Lefty' Verstegen rolled a 232 game, and Dave Blahnik had a 609 series to lead legions in the Universal League at the 41 Bowl in opening action.

Shirley Seehawer had a 528 set and Elaine Schmidt posted a 192 singleton and 534 series.

Poni Duiben had a 196 game and 516 series for top counts in the Latecomers League. Elaine Schmidt fired a 509 set and Vicki Lemke had a 191 game.

In the Tri-City League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes, Ed Belongea had a 576 series and Pete Schmidt was close behind with a 575 count. Norm Schummelpfenning hit 562.

Bob Long Runs at Full Speed for First Time Since Knee Operation

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Lanky Bob Long veered to the middle of the field from his flanker spot, and into the open, leaped for Bart Starr's picture pass—and dropped it.

Normally, this misadventure would have occasioned some good-natured jibe from his teammates, but cheers echoed over the Packers' South Oneida street practice field Wednesday as the ball trickled through Long's hands to the turf.

And with good reason. "Flakey," as he is affectionately known to his colleagues, had just on that post pattern, it scared run at full speed for the first time — and I dropped the ball." time since undergoing knee That moment, which once surgery on Aug. 10—his second would have deeply troubled the such operation on the same conscientious young Pennsylvan- "hunge" within a year's time — ran, was quickly forgotten, how- without perceptible strain and ever, in the re-discovered joy of his teammates were openly freewheeling.

Collier Says Zeke Underrated

Bratkowski Effective Starting or Relieving

GREEN BAY (AP) — It of concentration was needed as takes a special kind of man to as he moved the Packers for come into a hot game cold and 315 total yards, 30 points, and do a job

It takes a special kind of man to be a relief pitcher, or the sixth man on a basketball team or a backup quarterback in the bruising game of professional football.

And, if you are the type who can be a good relief pitcher, or sixth basketball player, or No. 2 signal-caller, then chances are you'll have trouble if you're moved to a starting position. But Zeke Bratkowski, veteran Green Bay Packer understudy field general, can go both ways. And he often does.

Bratkowski has been called the best No. 2 quarterback in the rugged National Football League

Now, he's proved he can take the starting call as well.

Bratkowski who came to the Packers in 1963 after doing time with the Chicago Bears and the Los Angeles Rams, has been thrown into pressure games often, and has responded beautifully.

Led Playoff Win
When Packer starter Bart Starr suffered rib injuries in the 1965 playoff game with the Baltimore Colts, Bratkowski entered the game and led the Packers to a come-from-behind, sudden death overtime 13-10 victory. The win gave Green Bay the National Football League's western conference title.

Last season, he repeated the performance, again against Baltimore, by directing an 80-yard last quarter touchdown drive that handed the Packers a 14-10 win and another divisional championship.

Starr now is nursing another case of bruised ribs, and Bratkowski got the starting assignment Saturday night at Cleveland. The Packers won the exhibition game 30-21.

"There's a different kind of concentration when you know you're going to start," said Bratkowski.

He apparently knew what type and wanted me to come out there for three weeks."

Reflecting upon the one that got away, Long flashed a boyish grin and confessed, I ran so fast only the leg but my whole body... lying around that hospital, you can't run or anything, so you can't keep as strong as you'd like to."

Continuing his progress report, Long added with a pardonable smile of triumph, "Everybody had written me off when they heard about this last operation I got some letters from people asking me what I was going to do the rest of my career—they didn't think I'd ever play... again."

"We'll see," he said significantly, "what happens."

He had not lost any speed, it was ventured, "Not too much," the 25-year-old distance threat agreed with satisfaction. "I was really thrilled on that post pattern—it's the first time I've had to go out and get the ball."

Asked if he hoped to be ready for the Pack's National Football League opener against the Detroit Lions here 10 days hence, Long said, "This is my goal—that's what I started pointing for since the day the cartilage started floating and I knew I'd have to have an operation."

"It's all up to the boss (Coach Vince Lombardi). It depends on what he thinks and what he needs."

Explaining his surprisingly rapid recovery, Long informed, "Domenic Gentile (assistant Packer trainer) has had me on a progressive weight program—I've been progressing every day."

"And, perhaps first of all, I went through this thing last year, so I knew how fast I could go on it. I didn't want to hurt it, but I knew how far I could push myself... I personally feel the more you baby something, the longer it takes."

"Mentally, I'm a lot better off than I was last year because of having gone through it... and the guys on the ball club really help a lot... they kid you about it, but they're sincere... Lionel Fran Tarkenton for three seasons, continued, "I'm looking to me. He's had that broken leg for weeks, but he's coming along now."

"As I said, I think a lot of it is... Bud Grant (Viking head coach). Last year, I was de- pressed — this year I wasn't. I definitely, having that All-Star Game before I got hurt helped John Hankinson, who went the me. You have a good game and first three quarters at the Viking it renews your confidence that throule in the Minnesotans' 16-3 victory over the Atlanta Falcons."

70 Marines Die in Valley

Communist Losses Heavy As Fierce Battle Continues

SAIGON (AP) — American Marines and some 4,000 freshly equipped North Vietnamese regulars locked in a fierce battle over the blood-stained rice paddies of the Que Son valley today with 188 Communist soldiers and 70 Marines reported killed.

More than two battalions of Marines sweeping through the paddies and bamboo stands west of Tam Ky hit the Communist force late Wednesday. The battle raged through the night with the Marines and the North Vietnamese alternately charging.

There was frequent hand-to-hand fighting beneath the flickering yellow glow of parachute flares.

The battle raged less than a mile from the scarred field where 150 North Vietnamese soldiers were cut down Monday and Tuesday. The Reds have lost 338 killed and 23 captured in the valley in these two battles, and 219 Viet Cong were killed and 16 captured in an abortive attack on the town of Tam Ky early Wednesday.

Marine casualties in the Que Son Valley fighting now total 114 killed and 283 wounded.

The battle 30 miles below Da Nang in the northern war zone was the only significant fight listed in the day's war communique. A storm over North Vietnam limited American air strikes Wednesday to 64—the leanest day in three months—but U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs blew up tracks on the approaches to the Lang Con railroad bridge only 25 miles from the Red Chinese border.

U.S. headquarters reported 157 Americans died in action last week and 1,588 were wounded, about an average casualty figure despite the lull in the fighting during that period. But enemy casualties of 1,055 killed were reported, nearly 500 less than the week before and the lowest enemy total since last April.

Action in the ground war had been relatively light for about two months until early this week, when Communist forces began showing signs of readiness for renewed action in the northern zone defended by the Marines.

Marine officers said many of the Communist dead found on the battlefield today wore new, freshly cleaned uniforms. Some of the equipment was brand new, including Chinese gas masks, field radios and submachine guns.

Although the Marines estimated that about 4,000 North Vietnamese were engaged in the fight, they identified elements of three units—the 1st, 3rd and 21st regiments of the 2nd Infantry Division. This meant that perhaps 9,000 Red troops were in the immediate area.

The battle apparently was the joined when a Marine battalion on the move was struck on its right flank by a savage attack. Although the Marines hit hard, Jordanian troops opened fire on one company pushed out and 3 charged into the exposed flank of the attacking Reds and rolled Bridge in the Jericho region, it up, killing 50 of the enemy in The Israelis returned the fire.

Arab-Israeli Cease-Fire Fails To Last at Suez, Jordan River

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Arab-Israeli cease-fire was breached again Wednesday night and today by firing across the Suez Canal and the Jordan River.

Israel and Egypt each blamed the other for the firing across the canal. An Egyptian communique said five civilians were wounded slightly and several buildings hit in a two-hour marine gun and artillery duel fight, they identified elements of three units—the 1st, 3rd and 21st regiments of the 2nd Infantry Division. This meant that perhaps 9,000 Red troops were in the immediate area.

The shooting ended at midnight after intervention by U.N. cease-fire observers. Each nation prepared a complaint to the United Nations.

U.N. Intervenes

An Israeli spokesman said Jordanian troops opened fire on one company pushed out and 3 charged into the exposed flank of the attacking Reds and rolled Bridge in the Jericho region, it up, killing 50 of the enemy in The Israelis returned the fire.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some senators are irritated because they're unable to use in debate the authority extends to transcripts of testimony of congressional committees at which representatives of those departments appear. But some members say the authority to keep information secret has been them in making an effective public case for viewpoints on controversial issues.

The protests have appeared with increasing frequency in floor discussions, committee hearings and official reports.

No senator has suggested elimination of the authority of the Defense and State departments to classify material in the interest of national security. The authority extends to transcripts of testimony of congressional committees at which representatives of those departments appear. But some members say the authority to keep information secret has been them in making an effective public case for viewpoints on controversial issues.

The members of the executive branch of the government have gone far out of line in classifying material to which the American people are entitled," commented Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., during a debate on defense appropriations.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, has said Congress should "insist upon our rights and not be satisfied when the administration sends matters back and declares they are classified."

He suggested any agency seeking to keep secret the material it has submitted to Congress be required to appear before the appropriate committee to justify its position.

Open Housing Demonstration In 10th Night

Hike to Milwaukee's North Side Mostly Without Incident

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A group of about 450 civil rights demonstrators marched to the far northern section of Milwaukee Wednesday night and paraded back again in the city's 10th straight night of protests over lack of an opening housing ordinance.

The hike of some 12 miles proceeded without major incident, led by Negro comedian Dick Gregory and members of the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Rev. James E. Groppi, the white adviser to the Council, was reported under a physician's care because of flu and did not join the marchers.

Police said four marchers were arrested on various charges. One of those taken into custody was a man driving a car in a caravan accompanying the marchers. He refused to leave an intersection on police order.

On two occasions the demonstrators approached to within three blocks of the home of Mayor Henry Maier, a major target of civil rights demonstrators.

After leaving St. Boniface Catholic Church, where Father Groppi is assistant pastor, the procession headed northward in around 9:30 p.m. There was some singing and chanting before the group, following orders of their leaders, walked in near silence. The march ended around 2:30 a.m.

A rally at the church preceding the procession drew some 600 persons.

Gregory told the church audience, "There are big plans for the weekend. If you have any plans, cancel them."

UAW Union Walkout Stills Ford Production

Auto Labor Situation at a Glance

DETROIT (AP) — Here is the auto labor situation at a glance: On Strike: 159,000 hourly rated workers at Ford Motor Co. plants in 25 states.

Cause: Failure to agree on new contract to replace three-year pact that expired at midnight Wednesday.

Principal Figures: Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union; Ken Bannett, chief of the union's Ford Department; Malcolm Denise, chief negotiator for Ford; William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Key Issues: General wage increase, additional increase for skilled tradesmen, guaranteed annual income, pay parity of Canadian workers, higher pensions. Workers now average $3.41 an hour in pay and Union demands are estimated at 90 cents to $4 with the company figuring its offer at a minimum of 34 cents over three cents.

Union Strike Fund: Estimated big enough to last 18 weeks at Ford. Union has called special convention for Sept. 26 to assess members still working at General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp.

Ford Inventory: 85,000 new cars and 175,000 of the 1967s in dealer hands as of Wednesday. Company says this is same amount of both new and previous-year models sold in first months of new model year one year ago. Normal Ford production is 8,000 cars and 1,500 trucks per day.

Still Operating and producing 1966s: GM, Chrysler, American Motors.

No new negotiation meetings were scheduled. In contrast to the mass picketing of former years, only token picket lines appeared at most plants.

President Johnson has said he fears the stoppage will damage the nation's economy.

Although the walkout brought Ford's assembly lines to a halt, the strike was not expected to dry up the firm's supply of new cars entirely.

A spokesman for the company said that under the American-Canadian free trade agreement, cars will still be shipped across the border. He emphasized, however, that Ford does not plan to increase its Canadian production of Falcons and pickup trucks.

Shortage of Parts

If the strike is a long one, Canadian production would be halted in about two weeks because of a shortage of parts from Ford plants in the United States.

The strike cut off all production in American plants, which normally produce some 8,000 cars a day and raised the possibility of severe damage to it standing in the highly competitive market that General Motors and Chrysler will continue to feed with their 1968 models.

As it lengthens, effects of the strike could spread through the steel, trucking and railroad industries, which Ford uses heavily for materials and transport of its cars.

The company, second in size to GM in the automaking field, was hit struck nationally in 1961.

Rejects Proposal

In 30 minutes before the Wednesday midnight expiration of the old two-year contract, Ford rejected a proposal by UAW President Walter P. Reuther for binding arbitration to dissolve the impasse.

By then, and with no sign of progress in eight weeks of bargaining, many of the UAW's 159,000 members at Ford plants already had walked off the job anticipating the strike.

Minutes after the strike began, Reuther told newsmen at Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn that he was "most disappointed."

He had said earlier this year "this union is going to be tested like it has never been tested before," and he told the news conference, "I think Ford workers are able to stand the test."

Assaults Walkout

Henry Ford II, board chairman and grandson of the company founder, assailed the walkout as "totally unjustified and completely unnecessary."

He called it "a badge of shame against the public interest," and "a threat to its implications for the whole nation."

But he added he had no regrets about the decision to test the strike, rather than surrender to a more drastic set of terms.

Detroit, New York Hit Hard

Teacher Strikes Could Affect 2 Million Pupils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Classes have been postponed for more than 600,000 youngsters as several of the nation's school systems have closed because of teacher salary disputes. The number could increase to more than two million by next week.

Detroit School Supt. Norman Drachler put off indefinitely today's scheduled school opening for 300,000 youngsters. In New York a deadlock continued to ward a Monday deadline.

Michigan was the hardest hit of the states, with almost a half million youngsters in some 17 districts on extended vacations, "until further notice." Teachers picketed in some Michigan cities.

In New York the Board of Education accepted a proposal by Mayor John V. Lindsay's mediation panel for a two-year, $125 million contract between the teachers union and the board.

Calls for Vote

In a telegram to the United Federation of Teachers the board called for a membership vote on the proposal. The union agreed to the vote but predicted the rank and file would reject it.

as the negotiating team had carried.

The package would boost most teachers' salaries by $1,050 over two years to a starting $8,600 next September. The teachers had called for a scale from $7,500 to $15,000.

The union is also seeking a say in educational policy. The teachers have threatened a mass resignation for the school after opening Monday to circumvent a state law prohibiting strikes by public employees.

Michigan also has a state prohibitive strikes by public employees but the measure has never been tested and does not outline penalties.

Detroit teachers have rejected a Detroit Board of Education contract offer of a $4,000 to $10,100 salary range. The current scale is $8,500 to $9,500 after 11 years. The board at education and Detroit Federation of Teachers reported little progress in negotiations Wednesday.

Some 25,000 pupils in East St. Louis, Ill., continued to remain home from school as a dispute between the teachers and the board.

The British and American embassies in Beirut have remained open, but their ambassadors there were asked to leave. A Foreign Office spokesman said their return to their posts, but no date has been set yet.
